(covering Mon 1st - Sun 7th) Week 15

With Only Seven Weeks Of Fixtures Left To Play The Gap Between The Top Four Is Only Three Points !!!

Some Other News From The Previous Four Weeks Press Releases

Week 15 and the title race starts to really heat up !!

And then there were four

Every now and then in a championship race the league throws up a set of results that blows the title-race wide open. In The League Supreme, thanks to Rob Couch, Adrian Mitchell and Trevor Isles, week 15 was it.

The league leaders lost, the team in second drew and the teams in 3rd and 4th won to make the gap between the top 4 a mere 3 points.

Although no-one is mathematically out of the race, realistically it would take a brave man to back any of the mid-table group due to some minor inconsistencies but they are all capable of pulling off a result so all have a major part to play.

Red Machine, were right back in the thick of it after a blip when they crushed recently unstoppable leaders Rising Deck 4-0. Rush Green halted Super Saints winning streak and penetrated the leagues meanest defence by drawing 1-1 and quietly and subtly The Dark Destroyers comfortably keep pace with top with a 3-0 victory over Sexual Ealing FC.

Write Us Off At Your Peril

Red Machine FC	4
Rising Deck	0

The Red Machine (who dominated the Xpert11 dream team this week) took no prisoners at The Red Cauldron as they crushed the very impressive leaders Rising Deck 4-0.

Having just edged the first half on possession there was little evidence of the onslaught that was to follow in the second 45.

Warren Bonham headed in from a corner 10 minutes into the second half to set the Machine on their way. Reggie Franklin made it 2-0 5 minutes later and Horace Logan found room in the penalty area to make it 3 half way through the second half.

Rising Deck (who showed off their new club badge this week) and the leagues top scorers Robert Houdin and Marc Spelmann were well 'looked after' by the Machine and despite their efforts Geoffry Finch completed the 4-0 rout from the spot 4 minutes from time.

to strike for top spot and disposed of Sexual Ealing 3-0 at The Theatre Of Doom.

Gordon Ramsay got the home side off to the perfect start after 25 minutes when his long range effort found its target. Johnny Rotten made it 2-0 with 7 minutes of the half remaining when his long range effort gave Ealings keeper a distinct feeling of deja vue. Vinnie Jones made no doubt of the winners when his header made it 3-0 right on half time.

Ealing could offer little comeback in the second half although Krik Hammet got his marching orders for aguing 10 minutes from time. The result puts The Destroyers just 3 points from the top

Churchill 'V' for Victory (Nearly)

It took Rush Green and in particular Randy Churchill just 12 minutes to do what the previous 4 clubs couldnt, and thats score past the meanest defence in the league.

Churchill headed in from a cross just after the 10 minute mark to give Rush Green a 1-0 lead at the Glory Arena. Although just edging possession the Saints were kept at bay by a revitalised young Rush Green side.

Infact it took the majority of the second half for the Saints to salvage a point with Gareth Bale heading in with 10 minutes remaining. In an ugly affair which had already featured 6 yellow cards and 2 injuries, Rush Greens Les Pardoe was sent off for elbowing 4 minutes into injury time.

The result will lift Trevor Isles young side while the Saints miss the opportunity to go top but remain 1 point behind the leaders with a game in hand.

Three On The Trot For Irons

Westcountry Wanderers	1
The Irons	2

After a couple 10 days of the settling-in period, The Irons new boss Jages has enjoyed 3 wins in a row which has lifted the Irons from the depths of the table to join the mid-table pack.

Paul Hewitts Westcountry Wanderers were a little out of sorts at The Cove and were vastly outplayed in the first half with Ross Westcroft heading in for the visitors after 35 minutes.

Wanderers came out for the second half revitalised and pushed for the equaliser but it wasnt to be. Two minutes into injury time Marshall Farleigh took all three points when he shot in the area to make it 2-0. Wanderers did have time however to muster a consolation with new signing Edgar Fergusons long range effort made it 2-1 on 93 minutes.

Mitch Lough Feeling Low

Down By The Trent	0
The Perrymen	0

The Perrymen will be left kicking themselves as they travelled to bottom club Down By The Trent and returned to the capital with just a point.

In a match of very little incident it was The Perrymens Mitch Lough who will be feeling the brunt of the disappointment as his 9th minute penalty missed proved costly.

The Perrymen will need to win their game in hand to leave a little daylight between them and the bottom spot.

Little to say...

Despite a handful of good chances The Perry Men were unable to take away maximum points from their trip to the City ground to play fellow league strugglers Down by the Trent. Manager McFletch left captain to Walt Mathieson do the talking, 'We were shite'. On reflection McFletch will be thinking he could have put forward a more articulate player for the post-match interview. I'm sure there will be a full press release once the team and manager have had a chance to sit down and look at where it's going wrong.

Den dishes the Dirt

Dark destroyers full-Back Dirty Den was in confident mood after their 3-1 victory over former league leaders Red Machine. We caught up with him in the Queen Vic on Sunday where he declared "We showed our mettle - knowwhatamean - to beat dem geezas, we dont fear know-one at 'ome, and wot wiv all deez uva geezas flyin off rand the wuld on their olidays - oo du they fink they are - we ave got a good chance to get a few more points in the bag and let em know we mean biznizz. And wots all this abat avin to play Dan by the Trent two weeks runnin ay. Wots gan on ay". His drinking partner Jabba (currently kept out of the team due to the impressive form of current number one Saddam Hussein) agreed and had had this to say ahead of their double header with Down by the Trent - "Whchhhocchhnabovvkiy bojjlovvaaah Dooon booooy ththth ttttrruuunt govvchhutaah tygraajupovvaw depwoffkquopaaanddwa argh argh argh argh argh aaaarrrrrrrrrrggggggggghhhhhhhhhhh"

New Manager New Era

As from Sunday the third of August 11 men in flight and manager cease to exist. there now is a new team name and a new manager which craves success. the players are safe for the moment but if results dont come then new players will come in. this club is going places the current league position is simply not accetable. watch this space. FC WAZZY be scared, be very scared.....

Donde En Espanol?

After a long search, we have finally tracked down 'Wazzy' Manager Paul Warren trying to stay ahead of the game by tracking and chatting to players around Spain.

"You caught me!" he said, as he climbed out of the pool flexing his tanned six pack (which is well hidden under the keg!). "I have had tips from my scouts of players that could support us with the progress we have made in the past few weeks."

When pressed, he hinted at some of the problems he has encountered in his search, "I was contacted by a guy claiming to be from Real Madrid, but he didn't fool me cause i've loked on the map and i can't find a fake Madrid anywhere. I caught him out once and for all when he suggested that if i wanted to buy players i should take a Bath Alone."

We understand his search will continue for a further 11 days. Good luck!

League Administrator AWOL

News is released that our own league administrator is taking a much needed break from running the league supreme. Rumors are flying around that he is on a research project to develop the 12th step - teams playing competetive league matches abroad.

However when Trevor Isles, Rush Green manager was questioned about this, 'On behalf of the club and all its staff I hope he considers Thailand as a destination. Bring on the lady boys'

The League Supreme Stays Put

The League committee was quick to respond to growing uncertainty within the leagues clubs that the League Supreme is not considering a 'world-wide, european or even british' slant on the current league set-up.

"This league is based in London and now Cornwall and it will stay that way, within English borders. The league had considered postponing the fixture campaign whilst its over-worked and under-appreciated staff had a well-earned break. It was considered this would cause uproar as it coincided with SuperSaints managers trip to South America as well as Rising Decks managers trip to Spain (also FC Wazzy). The league continues, and it will stay in the same format for many seasons to come" a spokesman said.

From Sunny Espanol

Que Calor ! (Fuck me it's hot ! ) said the Rising Deck manager from his team's temporary base in Albaterra, Spain today.

The lads have trained well and partied harder and are having a day off to prepare for the next exciting encounter in the season against the perry men (whose manager i have met and whose expertise i worry about ).

The boys are allowed 2 euros of vino a night (quite a volume !) but have had strict instructions to turn up ready for K.O. on Thursday.

'Trust is thrust into our team from an early stage and i'm sure our boys will be ready to do themselves proud' To quell the rumours surrounding 'Saints Manager, Craig Mitchell's , trip to Peru and the suggestion of foul play regarding taking this

In the meantime congratulations go out to Chris Jago who enters this League with a great Press release background, so look out for exciting press releases in the coming months!, after all he entered the league suprisingly quick of other candidates (carpet burns may answer why!!!!!!) ### Football Comes First

James Hitman Heywood is going to miss his young daughter's birthday as it clashes with the team's next away match. This makes him very unpopular with his daughter, and his wife isn't impressed either, as she wanted help organising the party. However, James Hitman Heywood is a professional and doesn't allow this to affect his performance, so his form is unaffected.

When asked about 'The Hitmans' dilemma Wanderers boss Hewitt said 'Family life is important but when Thursday comes its all about the game and it's important my players stay focused'

With Saints boss away trekking around Peru in search of wild guinea fowl the West Country Wanderers are on cruise control for 3 points later today.

Saints Boss Is Happy From Afar

Saints boss Mitchell expressed his delight at his sides hard fought 1=0 win away at The Cove. "They are a good side and capable of a good result here and there, so to win 1=0 away was fantastic" he said.

"My trip to South America is going well. not only does it allow me to scout for young cheap talent, it has co=incided with 2 games on the trot against The Wanderers. I know the manager very well and I would have suspected foul=play if I was in the same establishment as him during the time, he would have copied tactics etc. and given him advantages. So it has been good timing." Said Mitchell in the dusty suburbs of Pisco and Nasca.

"Tomorrow I move to the mountains whee they should be fitter because of the attitude. I have seen some promising youngsters but no-one yet who could cut=it in our league supreme. At least I have had some time to look at my team and change my tactics for the next match, I dont want to give any managers any advantages over my team in my absence"

11th August

Distance No Issue

Following-up from our previous report on Paul 'Wazzy' Warren's scouting trip to Spain, we can bring you the latest on his absence from 'The Back Garden'.

"I admit that at first i was a little nervous at being The Irons' first opponents" said wazzy, having just reapplied his factor 15. "Historically, new managers can bring a new zest to a team, but i always knew my team had the ability to play to their strengths, even in my absence."

"But the reverse fixture this coming week will be a different game. Luckily i have been able to lay my hands on an old Comodore 64 which i have hotwired to the internet, through which i have been able to make the necessary tactical changes to cope with the long grass at the Back Garden".

It appears that Wazzy has also managed to stay in contact with head gardener Mo Milorn, who hinted at this week's tactics, "We have done our research and planted the necessart seeds. For example, we are aware that the Irons' keeper showed signs in the previous game of having 'Buttercup fingers'".

Let's just hope that in their quest to come out smelling of roses, The Irons don't turn out to be a thorn in Wazzy's side

Dastardly Deals Dirty Deeds

"Dark Destroyers" devious star-striker Richard Dastardly says his club are planning to get even more nasty as the season reaches its mid-way stage. We caught up with him sunbathing in his dead-pigeon-strewn back garden in Mutley Plain slurping back his "Two-Dogs" he said "All you nincompoops out there in foreign lands - you know who you are - you can run but you can't hide - you have to come back sometime you know - and when you do - look out - the Destroyers will be meaner than ever! We have devised some cunning plans and we will bring you down! I am scoring goals for fun and have cleared a space on my mantelpiece for a Golden Boot." He was - however - more cautious when quizzed about their next match - a trip to Down by the Trent by saying "We beat them 4-0 down at our Mecca last week but we know they will be fired up for revenge. I am - however - looking forward to a trip to Robin Hood country - I once had a fling there with Maid Marion and I hope she will be up for it again." "Stop the pigeon, stop the pigeon, stop the pigeon, stop the pigeon, stop the pigeon, STOP THAT PIGEON, Nab him, grab him, wham him, slam him, stop that pigeon NOW!!" "Tee hee heee heee heeeeeee". "Shut Up Mutley!"

Times Are Hard

All these reports of teams jetting of on their summer vacation has left a sour taste in Down By The Trents' managers month. "Its's fine and dandy for these top clubs to be jetting off to sunnier climes" commented Phil Jory. "That said, my boys have had a weekend down in Talskiddy, and we had a great trip in the treacle mines - I think I may even treat the missus to a trip down on that shaft - and to top it off the weather was fantastic, it was dry for three and a half minutes"

Fiesta At Elche

The Rising Deck Squad are ready and looking forward to todays return fixture against the Perry Men and are expecting a much tougher game this week.

"Fletch would have done his homework on us from last week and i'm sure will be more tactically ready, it's our 1st home game in the beautiful Martinez Valero, the home of Elche C.F. and the welcome our supporters whose team also play the famous green n white have given us is overwhelming. My only concern is the 3pm kickoff as temperatures are expected to be a scorching 37c (in the shade !)"

The squad have had a relaxing week visiting the Palmeral in Elche and have made guest openings of a 'Mercadona Supermarket' in Novelda and guests of honour at the 'Moors & Christians' fiesta in Elche.

The Decks Player/Manager Ian Mitchell recalled his 1st Fiesta when interviewed at his teams mountain hideaway Villa late last night over several large Soberano Brandy "I remember my 1st Fiesta was in November 1982, it was a glossy 92 page eyefest at contained similar women but quite noticeably didn't have the spectacular costumes of today, in fact no clothing at all, and the formal procession seemed not to be popular back then, 2 or 3 people in a tangle seemed to be the normal. Mind you there was still a lot of banging going on"

Going VIP!

For two weeks no one has heard from him, while his team faced two consecutive defeats against the league leaders making 3 losses in a row reporter were faced with a wall of silence. Now finally the silence has been broken.

McFletch had this confession to make, 'To be honest the last couple of weeks have been distracting, I've had numerous offers to manage teams in other leagues, the emails have been flying around and I think the constant speculation has affected both my role as manager and the teams performance.'

McFletch then broke off from his conference to take a long sip of water as the emotion of the last few days took their toll. After recomposing himself he had these words to say, 'I would like everyone to know that a decision has been made, I can confirm that there is still only one team for me and that is The Perrymen and there is only one league for me and that is the League

Supreme, and to confirm my commitment I have considered the advice offered and will be going VIP!"

Immediately after the speech, the somewhat sceptical reporters left the office and immediately started trawling through the recently formed leagues to see if any of them showed signs of McFletch's involvement.

Vinnie Relishes Title Battle

Dark Destroyers midfielding genius Vinnie Jones was in a defiant mood when we caught up with him picking the last bits of his pit-bulls' head out of his teeth, after it went within ten yards of his "Ginsters" spike, blade and bolt slice. The silky-skilled midfielder declared "We have a tough game away against Red Machine tomorrow and me, Den and the boys are all well up for it! We know they'll be out for revenge avin lost against us a cupla weeks ago but we need to start bein a bit tuffer in our away games. I see they play at somewhere called Red Cauldron. We're all lookin forward to playin there cos it sands a bit 'ot which will suit us dan to the grand. 'Otta the betta! I 'ear theres a new guvna in town. Some geeza called jages. Look forwad to playin 'ya. Anova good ol' cockney knees-up! Laterz!"

'Blooming' Good Game

last night saw a thrilling match down at The Back Garden as ever improving FC Wazzy hosted title challenging Rising Deck. Unfortunately for the 'Deck, it appeared that the Wazzy boss had recovered from his jet lag from Spain quicker than his counterpart, and the magician's title aspirations were dented as they were held to a 1-1 draw.

Goldin's opening goal after just 9 minutes got the away team off to a great start and the lead should have been cemented (like the pitchside patio) soon after but Houdin was unable to pull another out of the hat as he missed a penalty.

This allowed player of the season so far, Terrence Crook, to perform a little magic of his own with a cracking equaliser which earned the home side a well deserved point to continue their progress in this challenging league.

Manager Paul Warren was over the moon with the result, "We have been trying to make The Back Garden a fortress this season but we knew Ian Mitch would bring a well drilled team. I am happy with the attitude and mental strength of my boys and unlike the veggies behind the dug-outs, they are beginning to really blossom as a team".

With their league position looking more comfortable each week, FC Wazzy must be looking forward to their next game against the erry Men!

Boss Over The Moon

Saints boss Mitchell, looking forward to his return from South Amrica next week stated he "couldnt be more pleased with his squad in his absence".

"I have managed to communicate with my assistant coach and make the necessary team and tactical changes and they have paid dividends, I am proud of my team". Saints have won all 3 games in Mitchells absence and climbed back to the top, however his team will rest this week. They have scored 7 and conceded none and look in great form.

"The timing couldnt be better, I have found young players here in Peru with amazing stamina and fitness, I may bring a couple back and they can train with myself and the squad over the next 14 days".

23rd August

Houdin 'Missing'

A worried atmosphere is in the Rising Deck camp this morning following the disappearance of midfielder Robert Houdin.

Houdin, who missed his third penalty of the season in the draw away to F.C.Wazzy that lost his sides top spot, was last seen with a two thirds empty bottle of Soberano brandy late on Thursday night.

Police, concerned as to the whereabouts of the midfield maestro, found his mobile in his discarded waistcoat and are alarmed at the number of calls made to and from a number in Cartagena, Spain over the past two weeks and have issued a missing persons alert with photos on display at airports within the southwest of England.

Meanwhile Rising Deck manager has spoken of his teams drop into 2nd place in the table.

"The pressure is off us a little, to maintain top spot is harder than people think. I'd be happy to stay in 2nd for a while and push for the top again in the last couple of weeks. F.C.Wazzy are a very well organised team who i'm sure will be in the top three if they can keep up the type of performance they put in on Thursday. Our thoughts are with Houdin at the moment. Everyone at the club puts no blame his way for the penalty miss and we will gladly hand over the penalty taking responsibilities to someone else if he wishes, however his phone activities are reek of pescado"

The New Orpheum rises from the ashes !

Good news has just come in from the Rising Deck of the newly restored Orpheum stadium. Health and safety officials have completed their inspection of the recently fire damaged arena and have given the green light for them to return to their home for the first time in a month.

"It's great news for our supporters and everyone at the club. We thank all at Elche for their help in the past 4 weeks but cannot wait to get back to our home in time to entertain Phil Jory's Down By The Trent next week" A welcome home ceremony is being hastily arranged with music from The Gumbo Flyers before kick off.

Washboard

"Well at least I have something to look forward to" was Phil Jory's comments, while referring to seeing The Gumbo Flyers before his Down By The Trent face high-flying The Rising Deck. "I'm looking forward to the washboard" he added "but probably not the scoreboard!"

arrival of Super Saints manager Mitchell back from his travels, he had these words to say. 'Unlike Gary Glitter, Mitchell has successfully managed to visit another country and tempt some young talent back without being incarcerated. I would like to congratulate him. I'm sure their fitness and stamina will see them through the intense workout he has in store for them.'

Green Green Grass Of Home Win

The Perry Men returned to winning ways with a resounding 3-0 victory over FC Wazzy. The win lifted them off the bottom of the table and put an end to their recent run of disappointing results. Star player Mitch Lough stayed around after the game to speak to reporters, 'The boys were smarting after the result at their place. We had been looking forward to getting them out of their tranquil back water back garden and up to the bustling metropolis. The seeds of doubt were already planted in their minds when they arrived. We were a constant thorn in their side all game and this was reflected in the result.' Lough went on to say, 'The lads have been on a high since the manager confirmed his commitment to the team by signing an improved contract. We knew he'd realise the garden isn't always greener on the other side'

Another Defeat

The tough times continue for Down By The Trent and their manager Phil Jory."Yep, it's obviously a torrid time" he commented and he added "unlike Marc Almond, it's difficult for my lads to swallow but we'll continue to work together to sort this out." He concluded "I am amazed my chairman hasn't put the dreaded faith of confidence in me!"

Double Pleasure & Welcome home

There has been double pleasure at the Orpheum this week (and not all Pinkus G String's for a change !) The club returned to the top of the table, taking advantage of the Saints week off, but were happier with the great news that midfielder, Robert Houdin, turned up after a week 'missing' to put in a no nonsense display for the Rising Deck. Houdin went missing a week previously after a costly penalty miss meant that his team had, temporarily relinquished the shiny dome of the league. His manager and team mates sent out well wishes for his safe return and were lifted by his appearance at 2.45 last Thursday. "I just had to get away for a few days to clear my head and the words of encouragement and support from all at the club, which I read in the 'Alchemist Echo, the 'Alchemist Echo', was overwhelming. A teammate has taken over penalty responsibilities which was a pressure that had got to me lately. I would like to thank all at the club for welcoming back and will give 110% to push for the title"

The Rising Deck visit 'The Red Waldron' tomorrow which the Red Machine must win if they are to be taken seriously in the race for the title. The Red's manager Robert Couch, WHO HASN'T PUT A PRESS RELEASE OUT SINCE 25th JULY !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! is hoping to pick up 3 points in what is a crucial match with only 8 weeks left in the season. Meanwhile Rising Deck manager, Ian Mitchell, who still cannot force his way into his teams starting line up welcomes back Super Saints manager Craig Mitchell into the country and congratulates him on smuggling a small Capybara back with him in his suitcase. The World's largest rodent managed to smuggle the Capybara by means of smothering it in his girlfriends undercrackers and sneaking past pest control in Lima. Rosie, his girlfriend, concerned on getting caught said to Craig 'What about the smell ?' to which he replied 'If it dies, it dies !'

Apparently on arriving back in Eltham the Capybara (nicknamed Benalli) was looking dead and Craig, rather enthusiastically gave it mouth to mouth (including tongues) and the rodent is now settling in nicely in Dumbreck Road where it has been heard happily panting most nights and has been seen by the local paperboy in the living room clad in crotchless briefs and nipple clamps !

Food Poisoning Hits The Reds

On the eve of the much anticipated battle between The Rising Dock and Red Machine FC. A bout of food poisoning has taken its toll on the home team, with all the players laid up in bed accompanied by a bucket. It is a huge disappointment to both teams, as this is to be a highly lucrative match for both sides with SKY Sports 1 televising a League Supreme match for the first time. And this was the chosen game and hopefully representing a flagship to the major broadcaster's for the league!

The Red Machine FC manager, Rob Couch, commented from his barstool. "I can't believe our downturn in luck. All the preparation was going well, we haven't had the best results lately and the boys were hoping to use this match to turn around our fortunes in the league. I may have no option but to field the ladies side for the game.... who knows what tomorrow may bring"

In The Press This Week

Asked what may have sparked the food poisoning epidemic. Mr Couch said.

"I asked the catering staff at our training ground, but they have informed me nothing has altered. Except for a minor detail that our regular Milkman has changed this week. The catering staff have just seen the milk suddenly appear from nowhere?????"

Stokes blasts 'Stats'

SuperSaints hat-trick hero Bobby Stokes has blasted the paparazzi at today's press hearing and branded them a bunch of 'Statistics!'

Saints who have not lost since 10th July, have scored 14 goals in their last 5 games and gone over 450 minutes (7 and a half hours) without conceding. Stokes who scored 3 times in 10 minutes in Saints recent 5-0 demolition of Sexual Ealing said "Statistics are for fools, they are there to be broken and mean nothing. I am not denying we are on a good run, but don't give me minutes and goals, give me team spirit and confidence" he said.

Stokes, Saints top striker, also commented "although I am the top striker in the club, 3 of our 4 topscorers are midfielders so we are a threat all across the park". Saints travel to the Glory(hole) Arena today in a tricky fixture. "Although Rush Green have slipped a little, they are a match for anybody on their day and we will have to be on our guard." said manager Mitchell. "With Red Machine and the Deck playing each other it would be a good opportunity to put in a professional performance, but that will only happen if we stamp out any complacency."

Saints would also like to thank the league for his welcome back from foreign shores and to various managers for their well-wishes. He had little to say on his smuggling back of the Capybara stating "If I did bring anything back it was purely for sentimental reasons and not for satisfying any sexual tendencies I might have, besides, 'Franny' likes wearing pink!!"
