Stalemate!

The build-up has finished and the waiting is over. The League Supreme season kicked-off on Thursday 29th May at 3pm and the opening day proved to be just as tense and as tight as the build-up suggested.

If any manager was under any illusion as to how difficult, or tight the season was going to be then they aren't now. Amazingly, all opening fixtures were draws, with no teams giving an inch. Arguably the only manager to benefit will be The Rising Decks boss Ian Mitchell who will feel his side has lost little ground by waiting an extra week for his teams first match.

Yorke earns Legends a draw

Johnny Yorke's 44th minute equaliser was enough to give Liverpool Legends a share of the spoils at Heavitree Park. 11 Men In Flight manager Rob Richards got off to a great start when Kyle Ferril opened the scoring, when he netted after 23 minutes. The lead, however, only lasted 20 minutes before Yorke's equaliser. In a tight second half neither side could make the breakthrough however Legends defender Rufus Lawrence got his marching orders after 90 minutes for a professional foul.

Couchy miffed at Edens pitch

Outspoken Red Machines manager Rob Couch blamed The Edens Arena playing surface for his sides inability to claim all 3 points. Super Saints just edged the majority of the play and chances but it wasn't enough in a tight and tense 90 minutes of little opportunity.

Wanderers leave Ealing feeling blue

Westcountry Wanderers will be the more pleased after keeping Sexual Ealing at bay at Glenfield Road. Paul Hewitts team had the majority of the play but Paul Corrigans side had the better of the chances with the player-manager himself going close.

Destroyers boss angered by ref

Honours were even at the newly refurbished Back Garden but it will be Destroyers boss Adrian Mitchell the more aggrieved. Dwight Shearer gave the visitors the lead and opened ,not only the Destroyers account, but the League Supremes, scoring after 19 minutes. Parker Myhill thought he extended that lead 6 minutes before half-time but the referee disallowed the goal for pushing in the box. A decision which proved to be costly. Five minutes into the second half Byron Barton equalised for FC Wazzy and that's how it stayed in a more even second half.

Rush Green rush home with a point

Rush Green made the away journey to the South West City Ground for the first time in managers Trevor Isles life and returned unbeaten. In an uneventful 90 minutes there was nothing to chose between the Essex side and Phil Jorys Down By The Trent.

Keen to get going !

Saints manager Craig Mitchell has stated that now that the season date has been decided, his squad cant wait to get going.

“Its been a while. I had a squad assembled early doors and to be honest the lads are keen to get out there” said Mitchell. “We have had a good pre-season, Rock to Polzeath and back and the lads have just got back from a bonding golf trip at Bowood so I will give them the weekend off then its back to the Eden Arena for our first match”

“Its a good feeling starting a league and although we all pretty much know each other I am sure there will be no love lost when it comes to the matches”

Saints kick off at home against The Red Machine a week tomorrow.

Blaine’s odd behaviour

David Blaine is said to be ‘holding his breath’ to see if he will be chosen to make his debut for ‘The Rising Deck’ in their opening League Supreme fixture at home at the Orpheum in early June .

With our team having a rest week from the opening day’s fixtures Blaine may well break his recently accomplished World Record despite being warned that he is taking it too seriously by his player/manager Ian Mitchell.

Transport problem solved.

‘ There’s no bloody way we are using Kernow Coaches again, how can we concentrate when we have to share with fking kids on the school run ! We have conjured up a ‘Magic Carpet’ to get us to the Eden Arena but are experiencing crap weather over Fraddon ! ‘

Red Machine Stars In Hotel Video Scandal

On a recent pre-season tour of Thailand, it has emerged that three well known stars of Red Machine FC, have been caught up in a home made sex video scandal with nine Thai prostitutes.

It was at their team hotel in the cosmopolitan city of Phuket in Southern Thailand that this took place. It is unknown the names of three players of Red Machine FC that enjoyed this once in a lifetime opportunity.

Only Red Machine FC manager, Rob Couch, was willing to comment on the story. “I am very disappointed that three mindless individuals have damaged this highly credible club. I always thought that football was a team game. The last time I fielded a team to score, it consisted of eleven players, not three! However, the DVD is available via the club-shop at a price of 630.932007 Thai Baht’s.”

Asked whether this will affect the club’s chance’s in the forthcoming season in the hunt for silverware. Rob Couch answered “we may suffer from fatigue in the first couple of games. But the extra fitness work will reap rewards at later stages in the season, and I believe we will finish strongly on top, similar to three of my players.”

Financial Crisis for Down At The Trent

Merely minutes after choosing betway.com as the club's sponsor, Down at the Trent's coffers were empty as manager, and renowned flutterer, Phil Jory decided to oblige their new sponsor.

"The horse was a certainty" commented manager Phil Jory who added that "the jockey must have been on the sherbet the night before" referring to how he fell off for no apparent reason.

All is not lost however as Mr Jory's departing, and buoyant, closing prediction will have nerves jangling for Rush Green. "We have managed to secure a loan from daft bank, and all the money has gone on us beating Rush Green in our opening match - piece of p!!"

Pre Season Drinks - Be aware!

Having visited these hostilities on 24 May, a landlord has advised that a League Supreme member has offered "big econ wedge" in favour of spiking drinks at the aforementioned gathering on Sunday 25 May.

Bridge On Wool landlord Tom Meehan said that "someone I know very well has offered me several thousand econs if I place a small substance in the drinks of League Supreme members - I won't give his name but he is sh*t hot at magic".

When asked what affect the "spiking" would have Mr Meehan added "it causes your wrist to shake violently and renders it impossible to select your team on the computer, mind you it's great if you want a wa.....!"

Friendlies went well

Bridgers manager Craig Mitchell said he "was pleased with how his squad has prepared for the big kick-off" on Thursday.

Bridgers who drew and lost both friendlies we will be sure to strengthen things for Thursday." I gave run-outs to some fringe players recently and they are sure to keep my first eleven on their toes. We will be ready and firing on all cylinders against Couchy's side come Thursday" he commented.

Mitchell, who has been nursing an upset stomach today has blamed 'dirty tactics' from fellow managers in the pre-season drinks session. Ian Mitchell, manager of The Rising Deck, was coincidentally, absent from the drinks and has been blamed for the freak illness.

"The other managers can poison and play mind-games all they want but the club and fans can rest assured me and my team won't buckle under such influences".

What a great shame !

Oh what a great shame, it's started already and kick off is still days away! The excuses being made in the press is music to the ears of us 'hard working/training managers. Stories of drink spiking Ha Ha Ha !. There is no need of this as the last time the worried manager was seen in a tavern he simply sniffed the cap of a watered down Martini bottle and proceeded to vomit down his bib ! My cards are on the table for all to see, pick them up and look through them, choose one, remember it, return it to the deck then go to the gentleman's latrine and do some shuffling of your own ! Meanwhile I'm pleased with my pre season, a couple of friendlies all the squad has had a run out and are looking good. We will spend this week touring Vegas before returning to Blighty to suited and booted for our opening match next week. Good Luck to all opposing managers, leather that bag of wind !

Having a stretch !

I just put my kids to bed and proceeded to leather my 'bag of wind'!! The team masseuse is going to sleep well and satisfied tonight !

Gossip Wanted !

Managers: You will have, hopefully, liked the new weekly magazine for our league but it does heavily rely on your input, otherwise it will remain a simple 'reporting' mag. Please email: craigmitch@btinternet.com or mitchell_813673@hotmail.com with your gossip and news. All news stories to me will remain confidential to your identity (something you don't get in the press release board). The more input from you, the better the mag!

Also, your club receives money for releasing press releases, the more money your club has, the better your team will be!
