Transfer Scandal

WORLD EXCLUSIVE: We have ALL the evidence and views from most of the managers on the transfer-saga that threatened to bring down the greatest league in Xpert 11 !!!

The League Supreme Admin is mobbed by angry paparazzi demanding an explanation into Wednesday's transfer scandal

It all started as a simple player for player swap between SuperBlues Lily Hursthouse and Egloshayle Park defender Gary Burtenshaw but ended in a cloud of controversy with managers patience and emotions at boiling point.

The League Supreme, being one of the most passionate leagues in xpert11 is no stranger to the odd explosion of emotions here and there, it was only at the end of last season when Temple Town and Rising Deck were asked to 'cool it' but no-one could have predicted the outburst of emotion that followed in week 2.

The deal, as you will see, was a complicated deal involving many steps. Step one was made public without the Admin stating there would further steps and this sparked a heated reaction which was, as follows.

Transfer Probe... Direct Transfers

 Irish Raiders manager Alan Garrihy is furious at the transfer of a 19 year old skill 5 midfielder with Free Kick abilities from Super Blues to Eggshell Park for a meer 300 econ.

"I am furious at the value of the transfer, these players can fetch between 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 on the transfer market. This is why direct transfers should not be allowed. You work hard as a manager every day trying to get the best out of your squad while this is going on in the background.

All I can hope is that this player was on the transfer market and that this was not what it seems"

"I am furious at the value of the transfer"

Egg shell and Super Blues Cheating

 I couldn't agree more with my Irish manager, there is a disgusting smell about this transfer, take a look at the transfer market now! Minimum value is 1million. This ain't the game. Egg shell upto dirty tricks. Surely reportable to League Higher Admin?

"there is a disgusting smell about this transfer"

Pipe Down Raider

 Transfers are not yet complete Irish, yes he was on transfer market, no one wanted him or any other players I want to kick out. I need to get a stronger defender in my squad so I am buying one of Egloshayles players as a swap making the deal equal.

Update

 Super Blues will be deleted shortly, I've resigned. All a bit too serious for me, thought it was a game?

I leave league admin to clarify as I checked with them first. If any wrong doing I'll ask for the player back.

"I've resigned"

Pipe Down!!

 A player is only worth what anybody is willing to pay. If he cannot be sold on the open market, then I believe a manager has every right to sell a player for whatever he can get, even if it is a direct transfer.

Maybe, to make things fair, the availability of the player should have been made clear to the whole league. That way, nobody can claim favouritism amongst teams. But let's face it, Liverpool would never sell Gerrard to Chelsea or Man Utd as they are close rivals. If they did, more fool them!! This may yet backfire on either or both teams involved.

Either way, let's remember it is only a bit of fun and I need the Blues to stay playing so I can claim another 3 points later in the season!!

Game

 There's me thinking it was all a game that Egg Shell just has to win? Lighten up guilty parties!

"Lighten up guilty parties"

Temple Town

 I second the words of temple town manager "Lighten up guilty parties" Its all part of the banter and fun of the league and Press releasing. Yes it is all about having a bit of fun but we all try to get one over each other here and there over the season.

I have spotted something that looked suspect and therefore I voiced "MY OPINION". It is up to everybody else to make their minds up. I am not here to make enemies as it is all a game at the end of the day.

I could go on but I think it will just make things worse when I am only having my say. Maybe I should just not make any press releases anymore.

If I have offended either manager "I am sorry" but think you both have taken this the wrong way.....or maybe that is a sign of guilt! LOL (Just to show the humour!)

Transfers between Park and Superblues

All

 I hope this mornings early confusion has been cleared up, if anyone wants further clarification please email me and I will gladly clear up any confusion. I am not against opinion and think we have one of the best leagues for press releases, let the banter continue, I dont want to lose that. Im happy to take flak for being a manager and on behalf of Egloshayle Park, I am not, however, a corrupt League Admin, and would never abuse that position.

One clause in the transfer swap of Park defender Burtenshaw, with Blues midfielder Hursthouse, was that another (already transfer-listed) defender Bridge was to stay at the Park (for defensive cover) for that to happen Blues had to 'directly' buy him from Park to be 'directly' sold back for the same monetary value. No profits would be made by either club. The final part of the deal can then go ahead with the transfer of Burtenshaw to SuperBlues for the same value Park paid for Hursthouse.

Any objections please email me. I spent a long time in the Xpert11 forums, with Xpert11

The Transfer Gate Scandal That Rocked The LS

To All LS Managers,

Thursday 12th November 2009

I have NOT been able to log in to Xpert11 today but I understand there is some concern and mis-understanding with the recent transfer of Lily Hursthouse from SuperBlues to Egloshayle.

BEFORE any of you write anything else publically on the press board (which you may later regret !!!) I will write an explanation when I get home tonight.

I am slightly irritated this has seemed to get out of hand but this transfer was step one in a complicated deal. Put simply Egloshayle and SuperBlues have agreed to swap 2 players. SuperBlues have offered a promising young midfielder (Hursthouse), for a more experienced better but older defender of mine (Burtenshaw). As we can not do direct swaps of players in Xpert11 the ball HAD to start rolling with the transfer of one to another. The deal will be complete later today when my defender goes to the SuperBlues for the SAME amount, therefore completing a 'Direct Swap' of players. The amount is immaterial. As League Admin I would never abuse my position and would never stand in the way of a direct agreement between ANY 2 teams in this league. If anyone feels I am abusing my position please email me in person.

This league is held in high regard around various other leagues with many wishing to join. I will not have this league tarnished by the views of a few ill-informed participants. As I said, I will read today's press-releases tonight and respond accordingly, in the meantime I would appreciate if you kept your opinions to yourselves on this matter until after tonight.

I should not have to 'justify' or explain an agreement between Park and SuperBlues but for the good and harmony of the league I will. This is meant to be a 'light-hearted' league with ADULTS having a bit of fun !!!

League Admin

Fair Point ... Well Made DUAO

Now keep sucking . . .

Seriously, I would also like to point out that FC Wazzy has a fair point, the price for a player is for the two clubs involved to decide, no-one else, although I do have a god-like existence, I will never play god in this league and far be it from me to stand in judgement on what I (and only I) consider an acceptable offer for a player. If 2 clubs agree then I (nor anyone else) should stand in their way.

The only time I would decline a direct transfer is if team 'A' (with nothing to play for) sold many of its top players to team 'B' (who were fighting for promotion/relegation/cup final) for peanuts in the agreement they would be sold back after that important game (or if team 'A' offloaded its star players to a 'mate').

I guess its a debate we will all have an opinion about. We broke no laws and it was a 'private' agreement.

New Signing Saves The Day

Now onto the matter of the 'transfer gate'. I think that if the deal was done for 2m econ + (which is about market value) it would have gone through basically unnoticed. But I do think that Eglo got a better deal, as I would rather have a 5 skill 19y than a 35 yo 7 skill & with 4 other free kick specialist in his team I am wondering why he would need such a player. But that is just my opinion.

Tomorrow is another day

After creating the biggest talking point in the league to date we caught up with Alan Garrihy this evening.

"Look its old news now and at the time I was right to question the transfer as would anybody else after seeing it. We have now had our explanation and I think the admin should be glad of the publicity and reaction chiefs ensuring nothing untoward was taking place.

I hope this lays the confusion to rest and we can all get on with the football !

Super....Dodgy

With no blame whatsoever intended to be cast toward Super Blues Manager, Tractor Boy, outspoken DUAO Manager Wookie wish to wade in, with his own pair of size 12's, to the "transfer gate" controversy .

"The League Admin should not think that he has no reason to explain his actions. As league admin he walks a difficult path of being a successful Manager (gee's that hurt) and being a fair and dedicated leader (that really hurts!) and to his credit in the 4 season's I have been here he's done that admirably (Ahh ffs I should just suck his cock, the shame of being so nice to him wouldn't be as painful). However, and on this occasion it's a big however, regardless of what advice he's got from the cock slapping I'm a league admin forum, because of his position of authority, he should have spelt out his deal here for all to see prior to making such a transaction. As there is no one to oversee his transactions, he must accept that we as a group would obviously respond with some dubiousness to a player going for a song.

"I will not have this league tarnished by the views of a few ill-informed participants"

If anything good comes out of this distasteful affair, I hope the League Admin has learnt that communication is king in the court of the blind.

Now lets play some football!

The Transfer Gate Scandal That Rocked The LS

it has caused and will surely help with the league ranking and of course lead to a special edition of the weekly magazine next week"

I must admit that it is a hard job to run a league of this quality and none of this was meant to take away from your character or reputation as I think you are doing a great job with the league and the magazine.....You may end up overboard next year though when we meet for our anual trip down the Thames.

Transfer GAFF !! Happy Now ?????

 Following on from the huge 'Transfer-Gate' scandal it is Egloshayle boss Mitchell who has come worse off.

"Part of the swap deal to SuperBlues was dependant on us keeping Wayne Bridge at the club. He was originally transfer listed with the deadline being midnight last night. SuperBlues stepped in, bought him (cancelling all previous bids) and I then bought him back and offered him a new contract" said an angry Mitchell.

"BUT, in getting him back our lawyer has f**ked up the paperwork, and he has now been sold in an original standing bid from an external team !!! In Hindsight I should have let SuperBlues keep him until AFTER the original transfer deadline had passed. We are now seriously short at the back which, I am sure will delight some managers, especially the ones who cant wait for our demise and downfall and who cry 'foul play' at any transaction this club performs. So, god help any manager who whinges and cries 'cheat and fixing' because this club has been dealt an awful blow, and its own fault by overlooking an obvious flaw in the system" said Mitchell.

The clubs transfer lawyer has subsequently been sacked and left with the Chairmans departing comment to him, simply calling him a "useless cu*t!"

Attack Of The Clones !

 Since the transfer fiasco (yes he's still bitter about it) Park boss Mitchell has written to a more powerful law (Xpert bosses on the forum) for an explanation which has left Park with real league concerns, his side have lost TWO top defenders in TWO days which have left Park with bare bones at the back. The reply from FIFA was . . .

"What happens when a player on the transfer market is sold by direct transfer is that the bidding on the players continues. The team that wins the bid gets a "clone" of the player. In this case, since the player was on your team at the deadline, the clone was never created, as the player was available to be transferred. If you had waited until after the original transfer deadline to buy him back, then you would have kept the player."

"god help any manager who whinges and cries 'cheat'"

HHHhhmmmmm, all this talk of 'clones' makes me wonder if this Xpert11 league is actually a fictional, internet program and NOT real football with real players !! I hope this isnt the case.

Conmused and Befused

 McFletch was both bemused and confused by the so called transfer gate saga, McFletch stated. 'I haven't had time to read all the press releases. I have enough difficulty securing players through the conventional means without getting involved in all this direct transfer nonsense. My main concern is getting a win in this League. It's been a long while and the confidence of the players is shot. Has Super Blues been in touch to say he's staying with us?' said a clearly confused and bemused McFletch.

Good game, good game!!

 TB has decided to carry on as manager of Super Blues and put the recent transfer saga down to the many passionate managers in the league. TB stated 'I hope its clear for all to see that no dodgy business was being undertaken'. As Raiders has said it is all part of the game. TB has advised that the toys are back in the pram. That said, he is a Leo and I don't like losing - two defeats so far so expect the toys to fly again in the not too distant future.

Wesley Sellers proved to be the match winner at the Emerald Isle which maintained the Irish Raiders 100% start to life in the Premiership.

Both teams were full of hope and confidence following opening day victories and it was the visitors that just edged the first half but found themselves a goal down. After good work from Eugene Stamford he managed to put through Sellers for a 26th minute opener.

This proved to be the eventual match winner for Alan Garrihys side as emotions spilled over toward the end with the visiting Dick Dastardy getting his marching orders for a second bookable offence in the 89th minute.

Raiders are now the only side in the premiership to win both their opening games.

"Repeat Defeat" for Destroyers

The Destroyers suffered a second successive 1-0 defeat at early-season pace-setters Irish Raiders but Chieftan refused to get too despondant. "We put in a better performance today creating four chances to their one but couldn't put the ball away. Against a team that will surprise a lot this year we are not too disappointed. Hopefully we can finally get the better of them when we meet - again - in the Cup second-leg on Sunday. If so we will have to do it without our star striker Dick Dastardy (sent off for two handball offences in todays game)

DUAO Answer Critics with an Away Win

 With Both DUAO and the Deck running into trouble towards the end of last season and showing signs they may struggle to stay up this time round, the 3 points picked up by DUAO could prove vital come the close of the season. DUAO took a chance by playing an unorthodox formation, but Wookie's tactics were spot on and gave DUAO a slight edge in a fairly even encounter.

Although DUAO were lucky enough to grab all 3 points in the 1-0 encounter, the game raised many questions about both sides striking capabilities.

We caught up with DUAO Manager after a training session at Wookie hole for his thoughts.

"Not the best of starts for us this season, so I'm glad we've dug in for our first league win to ease the pressure a bit. I feel it's the fans that lost out, as the referee tried to ruin an open free flowing game. We picked up 5 cards in that encounter and this will surely come back to haunt us as the season progresses. With the Board still refusing to release money for me to strengthen the squad, I'm really going to have my work cut out to survive this season."

Premiership Champions Won Division One Champions Didnt

Red Machine FC	2

Possession: 50 - 50 (47-53)
Chances: 6 - 5 (2-0)
Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Geoffrey Finch Hank Whitbread

The current champions put their opening day defeat behind them, beating the other promoted side 2-1.

It was Temple Town who edged the first half possession with Red Machine creating the better chances although neither side could open the scoring.

Just 2 minutes had passed in the second half when Razif Hanip crossed for Acacio Coutinho to put the defending champions into the lead. Coutinho then turned provider 25 minutes later when he crossed for Geoffry Finch to head home Machines second to put them on the road to victory. There was a glimmer of hope for Town to claim a second big name scalp in as many weeks when Ferdinand Tepper scored direct from a free-kick in the 92nd minute but it was too little too late for the visitors.

Defeat away at League winners

TT walked away heads held high as they gave the last year's winners a close game, just going down 2 v 1.

Glad to see RD is back, not sure about the poetry though, stay with the day job.

Now we have to pull ourselves together for the Rising Deck, but we are at home and home we were unbeaten last year.

Deadly Dead Ball Diddy

Egloshayle Park FC	2

Possession: 63 - 37 (61-39)
Chances: 4 - 1 (1-1)
Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Neil Richards Patricio Salvador

Diddy Hamilton came once again to Parks rescue as Park get off the mark and sets relegation fears for their visitors.

After losing on the opening day it was important Egloshayle got back on track as soon as possible. Just 20 minutes had passed when dead-ball specialist Diddy Hamilton found his range direct from a freekick.

After dominating proceedings Park found it difficult to create chances but after a period of the match once again littered with bookings by an over-fussy ref it was Diddy who set-up a thunderbolt from Kingsley Rickard to ensure Fletchs men left pointless and Park got off the mark with their first win of the season.

Park Boss Glad To Be Back To Business

Egloshayle boss Mitchell emerged from his rollercoaster day and breathed a sigh of relief at the conclusion of transfer debarcle and, more importantly, 3 points.

"Today's been a struggle for the club and not least the young 19 year old Hursthouse. I feel sorry for the lad and he was visibly shaken regarding the furore that surrounded his transfer. I did not put him in today's squad because of this" said Mitchell.

"This tight squad will not be put-off by the jealousy of other managers and the way the lads responded was admirable. They put out a strong professional performance against The Perrymen and hopefully this anger directed towards us can fuel this club and kickstart our season." said Mitchell

Jasper Tete Terrence Crooks

Will the real Essex Wanderers please stand up. To say that Essex are the Jekyll and Hyde of the league is like saying Ron Jeremy enjoys sex. I do not envy any side who has to play them, unpredictability is their greatest weapon.

Wazzy who have made no secret of their desire to return to top flight football were behind in the 13th minute, Otis Hoytes corner was headed in by Harols Sully. Twelve minutes later and the home side were 2-0 up. Jasper Tetes long range effort leaving Wazzy keeper stranded. With Wazzy trying to get back into the game it was virtually over in a leathal 2-minute spell just after the half hour mark. Brent Mangers corner was headed home by Harold Sully (his second of the season) and 2 minutes later Tetes freekick was converted home by Rowan O'Neill to put Essex in 4-0 up at the break.

No-one comes back from 4-0 down to grab a draw let alone a victory and you could almost sense the acceptance of defeat from the visitors. Their misery was complete just 6 minutes from time when Tete grabbed his second of the season, and Essex's 5th to make it 5-0 and complete a miserable day for Paul Warren.

Not only have Wanderers managed a 100% start life in Division One but they also managed to write a press release.

In an extremely tight match with very little chances it was the experience of Westcountry which arguably won the game. Fresh from their opening day victory and cup win over Park Wanderers had to wait until a quarter of an hour from the end to maintain their winning start.

Marvin Acreman put James Hitman Heywood through after 76 minutes to grab the all important goal with the transfer scandal clearly playing on Super Blues mind.

Wellington Wanderers	2
Sexual Ealing FC	2

Possession: 49 - 51 (48-52)

Chances: 3 - 3 (1-1)

Home - Man Of The Match - Away

Collin Murray Angus Young

Wellington Wanderers let a 2-0 lead slip through their fingertips as Sexual ealing show signs of beginning to gel.

Antonio Turchetti crossed for Colin Murray to head home Wellingtons opener after 14 minutes. A lead which Wanderers managed to hold on to until half-time in an even contest.

There was little indication of the flurry of excitement that occurred in the closing stages.. Ruben Benavent crossed for Les Yallop to give, what Wanderers thought must have been the match winner, making it 2-0 but Ealing struck straight back with Roger Gidiof heading in an Angus Young corner a minute later. Ealings comeback was complete deep into injury time. Jarred Ackroyd bussled through a busy Wanderers midfield and Jimmy Marback pounced on the loose ball to fire his long range effort past the Wellington keeper to give the leagues newest manager his first LS points.

Last minute Disappointment!

Eggmofo was looking forward to his team claiming their first win in the league only for Sexual Ealing to strike back late in the game. With the Wanderers being 2-0 with 80 minutes on the clock, Ealing bit back straight away and then drove a dagger in the Wellington's hearts with a last minute equaliser.

New Signing Saves The Day

Sexual Ealing new signing Jimmy Marbach saved his team from a third straight defeat with a last gasp belter from 35 yards, which is must be an early shout for goal of the season. We showed a lot of character in pegging back the 2 goals with only 10 minutes remaining. Now that most of the transfer dealings done for the season, it will now be a matter of getting everybody used to playing with each other, which will take time.

Comedy Corner

In The Press This Week

New Manager Already Under The Cosh

Sexual Ealing new manager has already been pulled into the chairman's office for a bollocking over some of his transfer dealings. There was the most concern over not picking up a back up free kick taker & the 4m he paid for a 30y.o. defender. Aotearoa released the following statement. 'Well yes with Abdul-Shakur I stuffed up, I came home drunk & bid on him when I shouldn't have. I thought he was a free kick taker & it turned out that he wasn't (even after evaluating him). And with Sullivan, he was supposed to be a 7 skiller & turned out to be 6. Well these things happen especially with all the dealings I have had recently. I just hope the other signings I brought in stand up & be counted for.' I bet that Hell Hounds must be getting similar treatment for the 10m signing of a fairly average 20 y.o. midfielder.

But apart from that, this season is all about the end of season change report. With some good trainers & some young kids, the signs are good this squad will improve. I'm not thinking about promotion for the next 2 years at least & if I somehow manage to get past the next round of the cup it will be a great result.

Wazzy Saga Continues

Super Blues manager TB was still upbeat following a poor opening performance against FC Wazzy and then a draw in the first leg of the Cup. The end of season bust up was always going to mean a fiery game but TB admitted the Blues never showed up. 'Wazzy has caught us at the right time, we didn't manage to sign Abbe Roth in time for the games so were still short up front. We know our main problem has been finding the net last season and we are keen to change that in this campaign. That said, after the very late announcement for the Cup last weekend, we had to line up defensive to give ourselves a chance in the second leg. Temple has said it all about the cup so I won't bother. We got a draw and I'll take that. The next cup game and return league fixture may be very different story as we hope to strengthen the defence shortly aswell'. Top striker Pablo Counago is picking up form and TB hopes the partnership with Abbe Roth will see the goals flying in.

Cup draw

Young striker Rio Daltrey was pleased with his performance against Red Machine as he scored the equaliser, but will a 2-2 draw be good enough to take the Perry Men through to the next round of the cup. 'We gave them a good game. We haven't had much luck against the Machine and if this was the league we'd have been happy with the point. We'll go out against them and give it our best but our cup history doesn't look too good and with everyone predicting a close league we have to concentrate on the next game against the Egloshayle Park FC'

Take Your Chance Westcountry Wanderers!

Egloshayle boss Mitchell is attempting to end the most turmoil(ed) week in the clubs history by stating to cup rivals Westcountry Wanderers "You wont have a better chance to put the 'Cup Kings' out of the cup!"

Westcountry Wanderers are Parks bogey side. Park have not beaten them in the last 3 attempts, they arguably scuppered their 'double' attempts last season and carry a 1st leg advantage going into tomorrows 2nd leg AT the Cove.

"Recent events have had a serious effect on the squads form and its clearly known that our defence is totally stretched, we are currently scouring the market to plug the gap but it wont be in time for tomorrows match which we HAVE to win in order to progress" said Mitchell.

Es'sex'ual Comeback

Sexual Ealings number 7 Dave Grohl leaves Essex midfielders standing in Ealings amazing cup comeback

Having been a staggering 6-3 down in the first leg of the cup Sexual Ealing produced a stunning display at Glenfield Road to eventually win 4-0 on the night therefore a staggering 7-6 on aggregate.

Roger Gidlof and Geert Alkema grabbed the all important 3rd and 4th goals in the last 10 minutes after Krik Hammet got them off the mark in the 3rd minute. The most suprising goal of the night was scored in the 38th minute from the penalty spot with Ealings GOALKEEPER grabbing the sides 2nd.

Jared Hatwells Sexual Ealing will now play rival manager Matt Roses Hell Hounds in the quarter finals.

The Hell Hounds completed an admirable double over top of the table Trent. They increased a 3-2 away win with a 3-1 home win to progress in impressive fashion 6-3 on aggregate,

The Rising Deck completed the double over premiership newcomers Temple Town to advance to the quarters. Having lost both the league openers Deck, who were 1-0 up after the first leg, won 2-1 at Temple Town in the second leg thanks to goals from Godfrey Smithies and Andrew Mayne.

They will meet Egloshayle Park FC who managed to beat Westcountry Wanderers at The Cove 2-0 on the night having being 2-1 down after the first leg. Diddy Hamilton scored his 2nd and 3rd of the season to put the holders through.

More Than A Cup Win

 Park boss Mitchell was in jubilant mood and warned other Xpert11 bosses 'Dont underestimate us, this was more than a cup win against a Division One side'

"We have not beaten WW for over a season, they were our bogey side. We were 2-1 down and 2 defenders down. To progress in the cup we HAD to score at least twice in the tie and win. The 2-0 away win was just what we needed and to achieve it after the turmoil last week speaks volumes for the club. To keep this going in an incredibly difficult division, against what now is an abundance of tactically great managers, is difficult, but equally achievable. Our squad is as strong as ever" said Mitchell.

"Our squad is as strong as ever"

Ben Windsor grabbed both of Down Under And Outs goals as they also reversed a first leg deficit. Being 3-2 down at Wellington Wanderers, DUAO let their premiership experience count as they won 2-0 on the night and 4-3 on aggregate.

They will meet Red Machine in the quarter finals after Couchs men proved too strong for Fletchs Perrmen at The Cauldron. Bolam, Coutinho and Stamford all scored for the Machine as they won 3-0 on the night and 5-2 on aggregate.

The Perry Men Cup-itulat

 The Perry Men's dismal cup form continued alongside their dismal League form. McFletch, surely close to being sacked, spoke after the game: 'We tried to attack as with their away goals from the first leg we couldn't sit back for the draw. This left us short at the back and they exploited this at every opportunity. The only positive to take away from this is we can now concentrate on the League. Unfortunately the next game is against the Red Machine once again.' As The Perry Men look at the fixtures ahead they must surely be wondering whether this is the season where they finally succumb to the drop.

The Cup Run Begins

 As Red Machine FC cruised into the quarter final stage of the cup, manager Rob Couch could not help but have a wry smile on his face, as he listened to Park's manager Craig Mitchell's press release.

"Im sure his tactical nous won the game"

"I'm sure his tactical nous won the game for his team, and that it had nothing to do with the rumour that opposing manager of Westcountry Wanderers Paul Hewitt, failed to turn up for the game, and his side were left in limbo of what formation, tactics and line-up to use"

The Irish Raiders have now won 4 out of 4 and are the only side to do this. They did the double over The Dark Destroyers in 2 closely fought games. Seymour Conden got the decider 7 minutes from time to win 1-0 on the night and 2-0 on aggregate.

They will meet Super Blues in the quarter finals. After drawing their first match at Portman Fortress it was their opponents FC Wazzy who would have been the favourites to go through but it wasn't to be. Pablo Caunago in the first half and Arnold Muhren in the second got the 2 goals needed to progress and the tie will throw 2 managers not afraid to speak their minds over the transfer scandal for a fiery quarter-final place.

First of many?

At last, the Blues get their first victory of the season. New signing Abe Roth was in the mix again playing in substitute Muhren's fire home after Counago had fired the Blues ahead with another quality free kick. The only down point was Counago having to go off after just 49 minutes just as he was starting to show the form of last season.

Wazzy would have been right to assume an easy game after the comfortable win at the start of the season but new signings Abe Roth and controversial defender Gary Burtenshaw look to be giving The Blues some strength where they needed it, up front and in defence.

After a very up and down week, TB said he was happy with the manager of the week award but that the first league win is now the main target for the moment. 'The lads knew we've been under a lot of scrutiny in the press this past week and they played their hearts there for me today. I notice the Egloshayle did the same. We need to go on a run now to get up the league'.

One(s) To Watch:

Temple Town - Irish Raiders

At the start of the season this fixture would have realistically been a potential 6-pointer for premiership survival but on the opening 2 games evidence neither side look out of place. Town have already beaten last seasons runners-up and narrowly lost to the Champions. They face a Raiders side who have won 4 out of 4. Something has to give.

LS Prediction: Town, with home advantage, to get a draw

One To Watch:

Essex Wanderers - Westcountry Wanderers

Essex Wanderers stunned FC Wazzy 5-0 last week and although they lost out in the cup last Sunday they will be looking to retain form in the league. Westcountry suffered their first defeat of the season on Sunday and question marks remain over their managers commitment. Who will win is anyone guess.

LS Prediction: Essex to beat their Wandering rivals.
