DUAO Has Title In Their Hands

Down Under And Out take a massive step to their first title, therefore all eyes turn to the relegation battle and Division One title.

Down Under And Out took a massive step towards bringing the league title to Palmy North for the first time with a 2-0 victory over Egloshayle Park. With three of DUAO's nearest rivals all losing, and with only three games left to play, Wookies team look odds on for the leagues top prize.

DUAO enjoyed the better of the first half but chances at either end were scarce. The deadlock was broken on the hour mark when a Chesley Gellar corner eventually fell to Dave Lines to give DUAO a 1-0 lead. DUAO had to wait until five minutes from time to be sure of all three points when, again from a corner, this time from Daniel Kibble, they found the net. This time it was Wayne Manger who applied the finishing touch to give DUAO all three points, the double over Park, and more importantly complete a title-winning week.

Parks Boss Excuses . . .

 Park today lost 2-0 away at League Leaders DUAO which ended their slim title dreams but took Wookies side a massive step closer with 3 games to play.

And what excuse did manager Mitchell have?

His youth team was playing?

best players out/rested?

Injuries?

Bad weather?

Food poisoning?

The dog ate my homework miss?

Cheating xpert11?

Nope, get ready for this and please . . . take a seat Wookie because you are ALLOWED to say this . . .

NONE, I have no excuses, I played my best team, with a win bonus and picked the tactics I thought would win but I didnt, therefore I MUST have been beaten by a better team. There I said it. Mitchell can hold his head high after taking defeat LIKE A MAN.

Im sorry Hewy - but it looks like the League Title might be heading North (although its taken them SIX seasons!!)

Smoke & Mirrors

 Employing a tactic frequently used by his sibling, to try and fool members of the public into believe his wiener is greater than 3", Park Boss Craig today tried to cover his own shambolic miss management by using the pulchritude and intellectual magnificence of the great Northern Manager of DUAO.

On paper it was Park who had by far the stronger side and by breaking from their own self proclaimed strategy of not paying win bonuses, it was clear for all to see, that this was a make or break game for their season. DUAO put in another solid performance, however the ineptitude of Park's Manager to exploit any of DUAO weaknesses will take some of the shine of DUAO deserved 2-0 win. While DUAO's season goes from strength to strength, Park's season has gone down like the Titanic!

"They couldn't score in a brothel! That's 5 goals we've put past Park this season and they haven't troubled our goal once. Keeping a clean sheet twice against them while scoring freely really makes the double that much sweeter we'll savour this one for some time. With 3 games left and 4 points clear (5 if you count our goal difference - but don't laugh too loudly at Parks!) we're odds on for the title, but we won't be easing up for Temple Town next week. I'm looking to end this season with 3 more wins!"

continued in week 11 with a 2-0 home defeat at the hands of Temple Town, which in turn eased the visitors' own relegation worries. The result virtually hands Temple Town a life line and the title to Down Under And Out.

Wanderers dominated the first half but could not convert the few chances they had into goals.

Infact, the match had to wait until just FOUR minutes from time for its first goal. The combination of Rowley McCafferty and Joel Wigglesworth combined to devastating effect with the latter finding the net from distance. That same combination reversed three minute into injury time to add to managers Hewys woes and virtually end their fairytale title dreams.

The Machine gave their relegation fears a huge boost with a 2-1 home win over Irish Raiders, which in turn, has ended last seasons champions' hopes of retaining the title.

In an even first half it was the home side who created the better chances but could not convert them and so both sides went in at the break at 0-0.

Just ten minutes had passed in the second half when Warren Bonham put the home side ahead, firing home from close range after good work from Neal Stamford. Red Machine doubled their lead just ten minutes later when Neill Whyte crossed for Acacio Coutinho to head home number two. Raiders did throw themselves a lifeline with 12 minutes left on the clock, but Gary Fortunes header from a Wesley Sellers cross, proved nothing more than a consolation.

Tactical MasterSTROKE

 As Red Manager FC hosted current champions Irish Raiders, it was a game they needed to win to keep their heads above the relegation zone.

It was clear to see that manager Couchy, is a manager with a great tactical nous for this game called football.

The atmosphere around the Red Cauldron darkened when influential midfielder Inacio Sanches, who has just returned from a lengthy injury was left to dwell on the bench amongst the rest of the subs. This proved an astute decision by Couchy, as the Irish Raiders decided to man-mark the midfielder playmaker, and ended up with one of their players sitting in the home sides dug-out alongside Sanches (took the idea of man-marking a bit too seriously!).

Couch had respect for his opposing sides strength in midfield, and overcame this by employing the long ball tactic. Knowing they would be playing a 4-5-1 formation and that they would taking pops at his goal with aimless long range shots, he tightened the centre of his defence.

All Couch had to say in the press conference after the game was.....
 "After all those decisions I had got right, I just wish I had bought a lottery ticket this week."

 Essex Wanderers	0

The Dark Destroyers ensured there would be an extremely tense end to the season at the foot of the Premiership as they became the third side at the bottom to claim maximum points as the relegation places are still undecided.

Essex Wanderers, who will return to Division One next season, were no match for Destroyers, and were behind as early as the 7th minute when Dirty Dens cross was headed in at the far post by Sean Gibbens. The lead was doubled with just five minutes of the first half remaining when The Devil crossed for Sid Vicious to head home.

Destroyers went from 2-0 to 3-0 within six minutes of the restart. Anne Robinson put Herbert Rowson through on goal to make it 3-0 and claim all three points for Cheifan. Both teams showed fighting spirit in the closing stages (although a little too late for Essex) when Fred West (92 minutes) and Harold Sully (95 minutes) were both given second yellows, and subsequent reds, for Destroyers and Essex respectively for late tackles.

Another week, another leader in Division One. While both Mangatainoka and Deck look favourites to go up, just who will grab the title is anyones guess following Mangatainokas 4-2 at home to Wazzy.

It was FC Wazzy who were the first to show when Bonaventure Libiihs cross found Filimon Timisescu unmarked to head home to stun the title hopefuls after a mere three minutes play. Mangatainoka were back on level terms when Roger Gidlofs 14th minute freekick found the target to make it 1-1. The home side were awarded a penalty on 35 minutes when Gidlof was felled in the area and Gerardo Raposo stepped up to convert the penalty to give Mangatainoka the lead. Mangy made it 3-1 just three minutes later when Marcos Canas corner fell to Dave Grohl to fire home.

The home side made sure of the win on the hour but it was thanks to a Jamie Hardings own goal to make it 4-1. Wazzy did manage a late consolation when Rodrigo Lamego put Petrut Florea through to pull the deficit back to 4-2.

Oh no

Mangi manager is a little bit worried that if we win our next game against DBTT we could seal promotion to the premiership. Yeah sure I would love to gain promotion, but I don't think our club or players are ready for this

Division One Round-Up

Division One Round-Up

yet. We are the weakest & youngest from both divisions & I don't think we would have a reasonable chance of staying up. But with another good change report & the right addition who knows.

On players, its with great regret to say that Ibrahim Ali will be leaving our club at the end of the season. He came in with a fairly sizeable price tag & has struggled to develop & find the back of the net. We will also off load a defender to help pay for the new striker.

The Rising Deck could be forgiven for having the cup-final on their minds going into Thursdays match with Hell Hounds, drawing 2-2 at The Den.

The title hopefuls started well and were ahead after five minutes when Penn Jillette crossed for Ira Davenport to head home. Hell Hounds were back on level terms when Bill Westcrofts direct freekick flew past Uri Gellar in the Decks goal after 15 minutes to make it 1-1 at half-time.

The home side went ahead on the hour when Edgar Meadows fired home from distance following good work from Valentin Cela. The Deck, however, had the final word when, eight minutes from time, Davenport got his and Decks second, scoring direct from a freekick to grab a point for Deck and end the match 2-2.

Super Blues continue to show improvement at the foot of the league with a 1-1 draw against last seasons Premiership outfit The Perry Men. Alarmingly the home side finished the game with 10 men after Pablo Counago got injured and there were no substitutes to take his place.

The visitors dominated possession but found themselves a goal down thanks to Abbe Roths header from an Ossie Ardiles cross after 35 minutes. The lead only lasted five minutes however, when Drew Hartigan put Patricio Salvador through to calmly round the Blues keeper to make it 1-1 at the break.

The visitors continues to dominate possession in the second half but could not muster a chance before Counago withdrew on 86 minutes.

Down By The Trent continue to breathe down the necks of Rising Deck and Mangatainoka at the top of Division One by beating Wellington Wanderers 1-0 at Wellington Street Stadium. Phil Jorjys men are now 4 points behind a promotion spot and ready to pounce should Jared or MagicMitch slip up.

“whatever happens hereon, its been a fantastic season”

The all important goal came from a direct free-kick from Derick Sawyer after 39 minutes to give Trent the all-important 1-0 statistic in an extremely tight match which the home side just edged on possession.

Smash and Grab

How lovely it was to see Titch Mitch scoffing a massive portion of humble pie served with cream, ice cream, custard.....and a further helping of pre-cum from my still weeping Forest cock.

Meanwhile a lovely “smash and grab” raid at Wellington today that keeps us pecking at the heels of the pacesetters in Div one - whatever happens hereon, its been a fantastic season which ain't too difficult to be honest at recent efforts!

Streaking Gypsy

Looking forward to getting your tiny todger out and running around Leicester Square naked, Mitch? That's what the promise was many months ago. Today the mighty TT play another little team from Cornwall, but we all know their minds are on the big game game this weekend, where the mighty Tangerine Army are looking to knock the sheep shaggers back home.

Last week TT did not turn up against the Gypsy team, as they felt sorry for the homeless, in fact they raised 50p for the little wanker Mitch, so that he might get a cup of tea.

Little Cornwall Pretenders

Apparently they were running hot and expected to give DUAO a run in to the end of the season. My arse, WW were shit, they deserved fuck all and were beaten fairly and squarely in front of their own miserable supporters.

Well done DUAO for beating the gypsy wanker and closing his season down, so another season with fuck all, the Egg Shell Manager was heard saying upon arrival at his caravan parked outside the local dump.

Squad Ready

After a shit start to the season and half if not more of teh squad replaced, the season has been about getting the magic 100% experince all round and its not far off. A very suprising draw today against a decent Perry Man team and with the greater share of chances to win it.

After the dismal start, the seasons second half aim is nearly achieved. This can't hide the fact sitting bottom of the league has fucked TB off greatly.

Tango has fucked it for Hewy, promotion looks certain for the top two in Division 1, fair play they have outclassed the competition.

With the experience gained, its now a question of whether the Blues will go all out attack for a few wins to end the season.

Wazzy up next where there has been some good banter between them and the Blues over the past couple of seasons.

Shut Your Mouth Temple Town !!

A footballing lesson was recieved by DUAO and a public verbal bashing was expected, and probably deserved, by their manager Wookie - but what the f*ck has any of this to do with Temple Town? They are fighting a relegation battle and recieved ZERO points from Park this season.

Unable to shout from the shitty Northern rooftops regarding his own side why must the leagues big mouth try and bask in the glory set by his other Northern bum buddy (same as Blackpool)?

It was DUAO who showed Parks' weakness Hargreaves! Certainly NOT YOU - Try and create some of your OWN glory!! Shut it !

Alarmingly this is what both Temple Town and Down Under And Out want to see.

'ere 'ere egloshayle park fc manager!

Oye gypsy Mitch, let me know when you are due to remove your clothes and run round Leicester Square, as I am sure we can all have a laugh, that's what you said you would do, so don't lie and cheat and not do what you promised.

I'm sure he'll back out like a proper southern jessey. Proof will need to be None other than the Northern siamese twin poofs !

By the way ..YET MORE SILVERWARE FOR THE DECK.. DIVISION 1 (for now) but still kicking Premiership ass ! This trophy is for all of you in Division 1 I'm shooting Brasso out of my huge cock as i speak !

MAGIC (CUP WINNING) MITCH ;)

Don't tell me you've won the tommy tipeg cup as you refered to it last year when DUAO picked up the silverware. You can't have it both ways - well as your a southerner you probably do take it both ways...must be something in the family cesspool that and welching on bets. More reasons to join the "keep the north free of southern scum campaign".

...and don't be getting any ideas now you've got a "mobile home" (AKA caravan) Craig. The north has been forewarned and if they see you venture north of the Watford Gap they been instructed to shoot on site - and they'll be shooting real bullets none of your gay yanking off your southern mate and shooting your load business.

A Gentleman who gambles

If you wage a bet and then lose, you need to pay up. Th gypsy streaking around Leicester Square, I indeed agree is disgusting and repulsive, but a bet is a bet.

I have no intention of attending, but I am sure the gay community will see the truth behind the Mitchell lies of huge genitals. Notice tinky winky has had to respond to the defence of the gypsy. The gypo is not an honourable man and unfortunately although he bets he is not willing to pay.

After the Blackpool game was completed he indeed texted me and accepted he had lost.

On another issue I have a box at Blackpool for the whole of next season, and am happy to offer games to people who want to watch their team. You may find if I'm not going the game, you will be sharing with a local childrens hospice though, so I wouldn't want it abused as you understand and especially as the children present will be exceptionally ill and carers will be with them.

Who would have believed it Blackpool in the premiership!!!!

The League Supreme Agony Uncle

Position Of The Week. No 7 'The Pinwheel' (NOT Pinhead)

Ok i didn't have time for last weeks position due to practicing some new ideas out myself and look what it led to!

Frustration to such an extent that it led the less physically gifted of us (think Northern) to try and bribe young men to strip in central London so before all hell breaks loose here is an amphibian like position i'm sure you'll all appreciate. Thanks to David Attenborough for his advice on delicate matters.

Erotic Instructions:

You and your partner lie on your sides facing the same direction.

First, you lower your crotch onto his, wrapping your legs around either side of his torso. Your arms should be stretched out behind you supporting your weight. He then encircles your waist with his legs and grips your upper thighs and thrusts gently.

Carnal Challenge

Why You'll Love It:

Like most side-by-side sex positions, this one promises a kind of ecstasy equality but with a head-on twist.

"This position is well-suited for shallow penetrations," says Sir David Attenborough, author of "How to achieve Sex in the Jungle with only a tiny penis" Why would you want to dabble instead of really doing it deep? By concentrating on your outer banks (not the kind of bank where you've sensibly hidden most of your hard earned income ready for eloping to a hotter climate), your guy can tease the turbo-charged nerve endings in the first third of your vagina (yes i know many of you think that's all there is to the modern day minky but rest assured i know that it goes a lot deeper and have emptied many a thread into the said chamber !) and while also tantalizing the packed-with-nerve-endings head of his penis.

The froglike leg positions were created members of the fog family Ranidae, (yes genuine ! and is spelt and pronounced like the word randy obviously solely for the purpose of fucking) containing more than 400 species.

These frogs have the characteristics of:

- two bulging eyes (as opposed to your one bulging purple eye)
- strong, long, webbed hind feet that are adapted for leaping and swimming (yeah just like inbred northerners !)
- smooth or slimy skin (generally, frogs tend to like moister environments like a front bottom or badly crimped pasty)
- Frogs tend to lay eggs in clusters. (Ughhh vile)

To turbocharge his thrusting, try circling with your hips, this can be aided by a play of Julio Iglesias' Begin the Beguine. The move doesn't have to be anything big — just enough to create a subtle spiral effect. If you're feeling really randy, move your body up and down his penis. The up-down, all-around action will be more than he can handle but if viewed by a nosy peeping tomming neighbour from an upstairs dormer window may lead to a worried and frantic call for medical help !

The League Supreme Cup

Houdin Wins Cup But Davenport Is the Hero

If ever the League Supreme needed an advertisement for excitement, commitment and desire then the LS Cup Final between Rising Deck and Dark Destroyers provided it.

With both clubs having arguably more important league issues to address, for different reasons, then there was no sign of this at The Orpheum.

Having been 2-1 down from the first leg at The Theatre of Doom, thanks to a 91st minute header from Destroyers Dastardley. Both teams fought through extra time, blood sweat and tears in a full-blooded cup final.

Ira Davenport, who scored both goals in Decks 2-2 draw at Hell Hounds 3 days prior to the final, took just four minutes of this second leg to make his mark, heading in a David Devant cross to make the scoreline 2-2 on aggregate.

The Destroyers, edged in front on aggregate after half an hours play when Sean Gibbens clever set-piece freekick found Vinnie Jones to make it 1-1 in the match at halftime.

With the final tensely poised and the Destroyers just in front it was left to Davenport once more to put the match on a knife-edge. This time he headed in a Criss Angel cross on 52 minutes. With the match heading for extra-time Destroyers were dealt a blow when first leg hero Dick Dastardly was shown a second yellow for an ugly challenge on Robert Houdin.

Within minutes of extra-time starting the referee, who showed an incredible 9 yellow cards produced his second red, this time evening up the teams after sending off Decks David Blaine for a challenge on Sid Vicious.

The final twist in this epic final came in the final minute of extra-time when Dirty Den was adjudged to have fouled Derren Brown in the Destroyers box. Up stepped the calm and cool Robert Houdin to fire the resulting penalty past Frankenstein with the last kick off the match to lift the Cup for Magic Mitchs men and break Destroyers hearts.

The Rising Deck are Season Sixs Cup Heroes, winning 4-3 after extra-time

Mangatainoka FC - Down By The Trent
 Down By The Trent have been on the heels, albeit at a distance, of the top two for many weeks now. A win against leaders Mangatainoka will put them in with a serious chance of promotion back to the big time. A win for Mangatainoka and Deck however will guarantee their promotions.
