Westcountry Wanderers proved that their opening day away victory over champions Irish Raiders was not fluke as they followed up their impressive start to the season with a 2-1 home win against DUAO. Not only have Wanderers made it two out of two but they have played two top class opposition.

The visitors were under pressure early in the game and a Kelsey Ballis corner ended with Don Ashe grabbing a 2nd minute opener, grabbing his second of the season. Seven minutes before the break and Ashe turned provider, this time crossing for defender Stan Sharrock to head in to make it two.

DUAO gave themselves a lifeline three minutes before the break when Vinnie Steele put Joaquin Rubiales through to make it 2-1, but in the end Wanderers held out to maintain their 100% start.

Excuse's excuses!!!

Irish Raiders excuse was 'I forgot to logon' boo hoo!
what's yours DUAO?????

This isn't Cricket!

I pay my Xpert11 VIP week in and week out. For this considerable fee, I expect to win more games than I lose. That's what it says in the small print...pay up or be relegated like those no hoppers the Rising Deck. Not only did I pay my, ever so expensive, VIP dues, but I also correctly predicted the formation of those Westcounty Bum Chums and their attacking style and even closed down their playmaker. Add to this my small donation to charity in the form of a meagre win bonus where those tight arsed bum bandits offered now! And for all this effort, the bags of money thrown at it and the immensely superior northern skill level what do I have to show for it?

"I expect to win more games than I lose"

Sweet Xpert11 FA!

The toys are out!

Further to my recent rant I'd like to add the following points to my argument...I managed to field the best goalkeeper and the best striker in the whole premier league. This means I should be the team most likely to score goals and also the team most likely to save goals too. I created more chances than my crappy west coast opposition. Add to this the best match rating, by a clear mile, of any team this season and I think you would agree that those 3 points are safely in my bank.

What surprise then when I open my bank to find a note from Xpert 11 saying...
FUCK YOU MATEY!!!

Machine Back On Track At Towns Expense

 Red Machine	3
 Temple Town	0

Possession: 52 - 48 (57-43)
Chances: 8 - 3 (4-0)
Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Neal Stamford Mickey Walsh

Red Machine FC were another side to quickly get back to winning ways after an opening day defeat. They comfortably disposed of a Temple Town side who are looking a shadow of their former selves both on and off the pitch.

Warren Bonham put Acacio Coutinho through as early as the second minute to give Couchs side the lead at Red Cauldron. The home side continued to create chances but the visitors barely got out of their half so 1-0 at halftime flattered them.

Twenty minutes into the second half went by before Franklin Leaver put through his own net to give Machine a 2-0 lead and fifteen minutes from time Machine made it 3-0 and game over when Chad Holmshaw put Inacio Sanches through to slot past Arleskog.

Bouncebackability

Red Machine were glad to be back at their home fortress, Red Cauldron, in order to put their opening day defeat behind them. They certainly did that, with an emphatic 3-0 win over Temple Town.

Machine came out in the first half with a sense of swagger, confidence and commitment about them. It was easy to see the players had a hard week on the training ground. They created four chances in the first 45 minutes without reply from the opposition and dominated possession.

"I was dissappointed to lose the opening day fixture, this was a great response from us. I'm pleased to keep a clean sheet, the first in seven competitive games. My decision in the close season to bring in an extremely talented defender was proven right." Commented Xpert Eleven manager of the week Rob Couch. "Up next is, for a neutral, a mouthwatering tie against bitter rivals Egloshayle Park FC. The players are keen as dijon mustard for it!!!"

Champions Back To Winning Ways

 Irish Raiders	2
 Essex Wanderers	0

Possession: 57 - 43 (66-34)
Chances: 12 - 1 (7-1)
Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Errol Jordan Morris Swan

Irish Raiders, the current Premiership champions, bounced back from their opening day disappointment with a convincing and professional 2-0 victory over the Division One champions Essex Wanderers.

Seymour Conden got the home side underway with a seventeenth minute opener after being put through by Simon Francis. The home side continued to dominate at the Emerald Isle and it was Gunter Hessler who put Eugene Stamford through on 28 minutes to make it 2-0 at half time.

Essex improved a little in the second half but could not muster a single chance on goal. Wanderers midfielder Harold Sully received a straight red for the visitors 20 minutes from time in an off the ball incident but there was little else to report in the match.

A Point A Piece At The Temple Of Doom

	Egloshayle Park FC	1
	The Dark Destroyers	1

Possession: 54 - 46 (51-49)

Chances: 3 - 2 (2-2)

Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Gareth Bale Vinnie Jones

Egloshayle Park and Dark Destroyers fought out a hard fought one a piece at Egloshayle Road.

The Dark Destroyers were the first to show when Vinnie Jones set-up Sid Vicious as his long range effort flew past Banshee in the Park goal to give the visitors the lead after only three minutes play. Ten minutes before half-time and Park were on level-terms. Diddy Hamilton grabbing his second in as many games with a trademark direct free-kick.

The remainder of the match remained tight with the home side just edging the play but chances were few and far between. After 63 minutes the visitors saw defender Dirty Den receive a straight red but the ten men held out for a well deserved point.

Hard-fought Draw

Park followed up their opening day away victory with a home-draw against Dark Destroyers and again had to come from behind.

"I knew this season was going to be tough, and I think we are all experiencing it. There are no dead certs in this division. Last season we thumped today's opponents 7-2 so to draw 1-1 today shows how far some teams have come. Cheifan set up his team to show respect and he nearly got his reward. Destroyers could be a dark horse this season I feel. It could be their time." said Mitchell.

"I lost another player today through injury and we sorely missed Player of the year Neil Richards at the back today. I was disappointed with some of my players today, some didnt perform at all which leaves me going to bitter rivals Red Machine next week with a team selection dilemma, not who to leave out, but who to pick!" said Mitchell.

"Well done to fellow Dumbreck boy Hewy who showed that last weeks 'no-show' was no fluke, the fact that yet another promotion side is showing no fear, is worrying for all the Premiership so-called big boys" he concluded.

"this season is going to be tough, and I think we are all experiencing it"

Hell Hounds Maintain 100% Winning Start

Hell Hounds Edgar Meadows creates an opening through FC Wazzys defence

The match was more even in the second half but it was the home side who created the better chances. It wasn't, however, until just three minutes from time when the home side made sure of all three points. Westcroft turned provider to put Edgar Meadows through to fire past Norton in the Wazzy goal to ensure Hounds stayed top, after two games.

A Brace For Ackroyd For Four-midable Mangatainoka FC

 Mangatainoka FC	4

Dave Grohl Lester Tabbart

The Super Blues received their second defeat of the season as they were thumped 4-0 in Mangatainoka first league home match at Tui Park.

 Hell Hounds	2
 FC Wazzy	1

Possession: 52 - 48 (56-44)
Chances: 10 - 4 (4-3)
Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Bill Westcroft Terrence Crooks

Matt Rose's Hell Hounds made it two out of two against one of their rivals for promotion FC Wazzy with a last-gasp 2-1 win at The Den.

Norman Buchanans 29th minute corner was met solidly by Bill Westcroft to grab his second of the season and give Hounds the lead. The lead lasted just two minutes as good work on the wing by Ethan Page enabled his cross to be headed in at the far post by Filimon Timisescu to bring Wazzy back on level-terms.

"I think the Tractor Boys were not used to travelling"

It turned out to be a nightmare opening five minutes for Blues when Ibrahim Alis 4th minute corner was headed in by Dave Grohl. A minute later and Mangatainoka were two up, this time Terrance Shutt creating a chance for Jarred Ackroyd to make it 2-0. The Blues never quite recovered and the match was practically over right on half-time when Shutt once again provided a chance for Ackroyd to grab his second, and the home sides third. The visitors came back into the game a little in the second half but Mangatainoka were too strong and seven minutes from time scorer Grohl put Roger Gidlof through to make it 4-0 to the home side to lift them to 4th.

Division One Round-Up

Tractor Boys sent packing

 Mangatainoka manager Aotearoa today was over the moon with today's performance with 5 of his players playing their best game for the club. I think the Tractor boys were not used to travelling half way across the world to play a game of footy & must have been jet lagged. Well I couldn't think of anything else after going down 4-0 to last season's whipping boys.

Also admin, what's up with only having 1 game a week? Is it like that due to the cup waiting to be kicked off? Well if anyone wants a game, hit me up for a friendly.

Trent Decked By Mayne And Davenport

 The Rising Deck 2

 Down By The Trent 0

Possession: 52 - 48 (51-49)

Chances: 4 - 5 (2-1)

Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Robert Houdin Mikey Grainger

The Rising Deck join Hell Hounds (and Westcountry Wanderers in the Premiership) as the only sides in the League Supreme with a 100% start. They beat Down By The Trent 2-0 at The Orpheum.

The match was pretty even, apart from the scoreline with Trent sharing possession and chances, but the home sides finishing proved to be the deciding factor. Six minutes from time Robert Houdin crossed for Andrew Mayne to head home to give the home side a 1-0 half time lead.

The second half continued in a similar vein and Derren Browns cross was headed in by Ira Davenport in the 68th minute to make it a comfortable start to life in Division One for the Deck. Coincidentally its two out of two for The Deck since buying VIP status.

Frustration at the Trent

 Another defeat and plenty to swallow for DBTT manager Phil Jory after his team's defeat at the Orpheum. "It was an even game" commented Jory, adding "maybe we should be flattered that MM succumbed to the win bonus to aid his team's performance." Commenting on their recent rendezvous at the local curry house Jory joked "that both MM and him were baffled by the results the computer can throw up - lets hope things remain topsy turvy as we play Mangos next week after their thumping win today."

All Square At White Hot Lane

 The Perry Men 1

 Wellington Wanderers 1

Possession: 47 - 53 (47-53)

Chances: 2 - 6 (1-3)

Home - Man Of The Match - Away
Patrício Salvador Linford Harwood

A goal a piece in a three minute second half spell ensured The Perry Men and Wellington Wanderers had to settle for a point a piece at White Hot Lane.

It was the visiting Wanderers who had the better of the first half and created the better chances but were unable to make the break-through. Wanderers had to wait until the hour before a clever set piece free-kick saw Linford Harwood set up Esko Jaamaa to give them a 1-0 lead. The lead only lasted three minutes before Rio Daltreys corner was headed in by Patricio Salvador to put Fletchs men back on level terms.

"I have let the players down and this is unacceptable"

Although grabbing a point and coming from a goal behind things turned bad for The Perry Men when Rufus Lawrence received a second yellow card fifteen minutes from time and Abihman Deol stretchered off in the dying minutes.

White Hot Pain

 A 1-1 draw between the Perry Men and Wellington Wanderers saw 5 injuries and a sending off in a full blooded encounter. Wanderers kept creating chances but were unable to capitalise on the 1 man advantage after the Perry Men saw Rufus Lawrence sent off for a second yellow.

Apologies from the Gaffer

 McFletch apologised to his players after burning the candle at both ends on the Swiss Alps and failing to make it back to prepare his players for a game The Perry Men needed to win if they are to make an impression this season. 'I have let the players down and that this is unacceptable. I have promised them that it will be a fully focused manager before them for the remainder of the season. As it is we were lucky to pick up a point against the Wellies but the sending off and injuries have left us a bit depleted at the back'

Looking For Consistency

After a miserable run of 3 wins in the last 8 games, Irish Raiders manager Alan Garrihy is calling for the consistency that saw them crowned champions last season.

"I know that some of those games were meaningless but the upset last week has got alot of heads down when we should still be riding on the wave from last season. There is only one result that will turn things around today and that is a big win against Essex Wanderers. Well the team is now ready for kick off well in advance this week and I will have no excuses if we do not come away with all three points today."

Will the Paddys day celebrations continue today for the Irish lads.

How does DUAO benefit from VIP ?

Regarding Wookie and what he gets for his VIP. You get the chance to choose a Team Logo that looks very much like a tiny lilac scrotum lying shamefacedly upon two tiny legs with what can only be described as a tiny spurt of 'Winkie Water' jettisoned out of the end ! MM :)

I'm with Wookie.....

.....as I'm the best manager by far yet keep coming last in Div One!! You couldn't make it up!

The referee's a.....

The Perry Men again visited the Mangytonka Toys for another friendly which they lost due some dispicable first half decisions. Captain Narciso Campelo was fuming after the game declaring, 'The referee's a cunt'. McFletch was quick to step in and diffuse a potential row declaring that despite Narciso's several seasons at League Supreme he still hasn't mastered the language and did not realise the seriousness of the insult. The Perry Men will now be waiting to hear if they face a fine for failing to control their players.

Have I Brought a Wank Keeper?

Well, 7 goals in two games, what a buy you may say. Yes, the Blues keeper really is struggling to find form and the team are in freefall. Not helped by the ginger ball sack giving it large yesterday ut hopefully the tide will turn this week. the youngsters may well get a run out to shake the squad up.

If this press release seems a tad boring, I need the 200,000 to get in a youngster.

League Admin Tosses

The press releases have not been coming from the Mighty Temple Town, due to the demise of Rising Deck, where has he gone, why no quizzes?

One thing for sure the mighty Tangerine Army will take another three points at the Argyle this weekend. Easy points.

As for the abuse from the little ginger whinger yesterday, I expect nothing less from that little wanker!

Get Out !!!!

The League Admin was today given a eviction notice from his landlord and fellow Cornish alli Westcountry Wanderers boss Paul 'Hewy' Hewitt. This means the Admin must find new accommodation within two months. This also may go some way into explaining the bad tempered press release made by the Admin only seconds ago although this was not confirmed.

"Yes, its true" said Mitchell "I must get out, I think this is clever tactics from the Wanderers boss". The notice coincides with Egloshayles (who the Admin has a close association with) match with the table-toppers, and alarmingly close to a crucial time during season six.

"He is either in fear of Park overtaking them, or the Machine boss has put him up to this." When asked what he will do Admin replied. "Im travelling North, but rest assured this insult wil make The League Supreme and Egloshayle Park stronger."

The League Admin today issued an alarming and surprising message to the League Supreme teams
amidst murmurs of 'unbelievable results and match fixing' allegations.

What has caused this outburst is unknown but its thought to be an accumulation of press releases and recent secret email communications amongst managers.

"Some days you win, some you don't,
its simple. Its not just based on the 11 picked and the tactics page, a whole host of other factors come into play. Form, consistency, the referees decisions, luck, moods of players and basic laws of unpredictability (just like REAL football).

We all make decisions on what we think will win us a match. It doesn't give us the right to win it. We can't have 16 winners each week. If that's the case then it would be a politically correct league or girls league, that is something the League Supreme is not, and never will be" a statement said.

It continued "in this league if you win, you take the decision to brag or not, but be careful, next week it could be you on the receiving end, that's the beauty of it. You don't sulk in the corner and cry 'foul play'
just because you lost"

When asked which teams were responsible a statement read "The League Supreme Admin will not discuss the teams or managers involved"

The Magic World Of Wonder (and Porn)

Good afternoon sports fans !

Papa Press Prince is back with another action packed (like my home made blue movies) bumper release telling it like it is, so if you can't stand the heat 'GET THE FUCK OUT OF MY BEDROOM !'

Many thanks to all who have written to me begging for more quizzes, poems and more pussy pounding truths from The Man With the Golden Gland.

Here's one letter in my Inbox to get the ball rolling !

Q) Dear Mr.Magic. Is there any team in the Xpert 11 Leagues who have yet to concede a goal this season. I know it's very unlikely and would take a well organised tight rear like that needed when venturing through the streets of shifty London ?

Yours with awe and wonder
Robert

A) Well I'll have a look for you....let me see.....no nowt in the Premiershit..... nowt in Lea....wait.....wait a moment.... ah yes....The Mighty Rising Deck whose start to the season is sending sphincter loosening waves through many a Chairman's Office.

Back to a quick review of our last match... "I couldn't have asked more of my players last Thursday when beating DBBT 2-0 at The Orpheum. There's a real buzz about the place at the minute, it's very early days but there are real signs of much needed focus and improvement in all areas of our game. We've yet to concede a goal and have spread our scoring around the team which is pleasing. We won't be getting stiffy winkies yet though as we have our first away game coming up against Mark (Egg but no bacon) Eggins and his Wellington Wanderers, who themselves had an impressive 1-1 draw away to The Perry Men last week (whose manager The Great McFletch let out a much respected and admired 'CUNT' in his latest press release !! Much Respect goes to you).

I'll be happy with a point but, just like Ron Jeremys swinging sack (small compared to mine, not that i have studied his closely !) it's important to keep up momentum !"

Here's a quick poem off the cuff (uuuggghh)

I take no fucking shit !

I suffer no fools !

Coz i've got a massive Cock

And even bigger BALLS !

Well that'll do for now folks as i've got to study some tactics to continue our Hymen Busting Season and am meeting up with two fellow managers to shoot (uuuggghhh) some pool and sink a few pints before returning to my boudoir to further sink the 8th Wonder Of The World up the current Mrs.Magic though i'll only manage to get the toadstool end, my very own Magic Mushroom, in before causing agony and pleasure !

Mr Jory will attempt to do the same on his return but will probably have a Mr.Softee and resemble somebody trying to stuff a Marshmallow into a Piggy Bank !

Q2.) Dear Mr. Magic. I hear that Barry Mannilows 'Could It Be Magic' was written about you when his wife saw 14" of cock coming around the corner of the Orpheum's Secretary's Office ?

And also is there any resemblance between Barry and your great self ?

Many Thanks for all that you do for the League's Moral Craig

A) Well yes that's right Craig, Barry did text me to ask if that was OK and his wife especially chose the line, with obvious reference to me, from it that goes Baby take me high upon a hillside High up where the STALLION meets the sun .

As to the resemblance i think you are getting confused with Barry's massive Conk & my Massive Cock

Any other questions to my agony (again referring to any Bacon Mishaped opening that took on my Mighty Wand) uncle letterbox will be treated with the utmost privacy and shown to all in the next exciting edition of 'The Magic World Of Wonder (and Porn)' Edition 2.
