 Dick Dastardly has started the League Supreme seven in devastating form scoring an opening day hat-trick has Adrian Mitchell's side comfortably disposed of last seasons runners-up.

Dastardley opened his account on 14 minutes heading home a Sean Gibbens cross. The visitors created little and their manager, Paul Hewitt, was made to pay for his pre-season absence as his side showed little in the way of any resistance as the half time score remained 1-0 to the Dark Destroyers.

The Destroyers made it 2-0 on 58 minutes when Harold Shipman crossed for Herbert Rowson to head home and the match was all over on 65 minutes when Dastardley grabbed his second heading home once again from a Gibbens cross.

The misery was complete after 73 minutes for Westcountry Wanderers when it was the same combination once more that gave Dastardley his hat-trick, Destoryers their fourth, and ensure Mitchells side started week one in pole position.

The Red Machine were also opening day winners beating newly promoted Rising Deck 3-1.

If last seasons double-winning side were under any misconception that life in the top flight was going to be a walk in the park then they were brought back down to earth at Red Cauldron.

The Deck faced an uphill struggle as early as the 13th minute when their influential talisman Robert Houdin was stretchered off and less than ten minutes later a header from Horace Logan put them 1-0 down. Rob Couch's side were 2-0 up just before the half-hour mark when Inacio Sanches put Keith Lisbie through to slot past Gellar to make it 2-0 at the break with things going from bad to worse as Marc Spelmann received a straight red after 43 minutes.

The Deck threatened a come back on 64 minute when Arnold Muhren put Godfrey Smithies through to make it 2-1, but any comeback was shortlived just 10 minutes later when Neal Stamfords corner found Benny Great to make it 3-1. Decks manager, Ian Mitchell, reported to be sunning himself in the South of Spain was unavailable for comment.

Teodor Årleskog Theo Walcott

Egloshayle boss Mitchell was today bewildered by the 1-0 win his team gained (when it mattered) against a Temple Town side who won 4-0 in a friendly merely 11 days ago. Town big mouth Hargreaves bleated after the match that his 2nd team showed Park 1st team how to play, and that Park would be in for a long hard season. This wasnt the case on the all-important opening day fixture.

"I dont know why Town didnt play their 2nd team again as they did so well pre-season. Oh well, maybe their 1st team arent up to scratch" giggled a smug Mitchell. "I have said time and time again its very risky blabbing your mouth in meaningless friendlies. Today is what matters and the gobshite was once again left with egg on his face and NIL points, when will he learn???"

For those of you who missed Hargreaves pre-season rant, its below (this was before todays 1-0 defeat at the hands of "Eggshell Shit". You wont enjoy reading it as much as I did today.

Egg Shell Shit

Today we stretched our legs, well not the first team, but some of the hopeful seasons starters, against the FIRST TEAM, no excuses Egg Shell Shit. The final result was an easy victory for the mighty Temple Town, 4 v 1, with TT letting in a late goal from Egg Shell. Now we will put the first team out against real opposition Red Machine.

No excuses for Egg Shell, they were his first team, looks like you'll have a tough season this year, Ginger whinger!

Morris Swan Daniel Kibble

 Was the shout from DUAO 's Premiership winning manager, as the current champions eased to a 4-1 away victory over early relegation contenders Essex Wanderers.

DUAO got off to a spritely start and were 2-0 up within 25 minutes thanks to strikes by veteran midfielder Joaquin Rubiales and young striker Andy Blackmoor. DUAO's 3rd goal took a while to materialise, but when fellow youth striker Payton Whiteside was fed through on the stroke of 62 minutes there could be only one result. 3-0 and DUAO were in the premiership driving seat again, just where they left off last season.

The home crowd managed to find something to cheer about, when a freak long range effort Brent Manger, somehow swerved past DUAO's keeper Olivio Bonilha and into the back of the net. However any hopes of a late comeback by Wanderers were short-lived, as DUAO summer signing and veteran midfielder, Julian Stafne, latched onto a Joaquin Rubiales through ball to bring the game to a close at 4-1.

 Down By The Trent, and in particular Derrick Sawyer got off to the best possible start as they thumped new boys Samson FC 5-0 at the Samson FC Arena.

Zacharias Barkworth got them off to a flyer when he netted from the spot after 14 minutes following a foul on Francis Groves. Sawyer got his first after 38 minutes after clever work from Barkworth to give Phil Jorys men a 2-0 half time lead.

A cross from Sebastian Roberts just three minutes into the second half found Sawyer for his second and Sawyer completed an impressive opening day hat-trick when he headed in his third following a Evaristo Corte-Real cross on 65 minutes.

Samson manager Joe Jenkinson, who has yet to be seen in xpert11, is likely to face a disciplinary as his misery was complete on 77 minutes when Groves' corner found Corte-Real to head home number five.

Pinch of Salt

 DBTT manager Phil Jory is fully aware that there 5-0 victory over Samson means sweet FA as, apparently, the opposing manger has yet to show his hand on Xpert11. "Future engagements are likely to be a far tougher examination of our credentials" commented Jory.

Meanwhile, Jory added re: the premiership "it's interesting that The Dark Destroyers are top of the league, perhaps indicative of the fact that The Chieftain has been ousted as manager by his dictating son".

 Annual promotion contenders Hell Hounds were division ones other opening day high scorers beating Dean Barkers Romford Scorpions 4-0 at The Den. Matt Rose's side were too strong for the Scorpions and many are wondering whether this season will at last be a successful promotion season.

Callum Pemberton gave them the lead following good work from Edgar Meadows after 10 minutes. Meadows himself made it 2-0 on 33 minutes following an Agron Behari cross to give the Hounds a 2-0 half-time lead.

Teo Stollman made it 3-0 just six minutes into the second half heading in a Jude Attenborough cross and the 4-0 rout was complete on the hour when Stollmans corner found Pemberton for his second.

Benedict Bayley Lester Tabbart

 FC Wazzy started the season strongly yet again today, beating the Super blues 1-0 in the Back Garden. "The opposition came here today and gave a good account of themselves with lots of shots on goal" said the wazzy boss, "but the new goal we installed at the patio end of the pitch did us proud. when we ordered it from littlewoods, they offered us inches or cm. We chose cm and the number of opposition shots that just passed the post or skimmed the crossbar justifies our decision. Thank you EU laws and regulations.

Now, we need to build on a good solid start and carry it forward throughout the season and not fade away like we did last time. We have strengthened the squad and I expect this team to show their experience and quality to the end"

Bollocks!

 Was all TB had to say at the post match conference. 9 chances to 1 but Wazzy make that one chance count. A handful of free kicks but Counago couldn't put any of them away despite going very close.

The only positive from this game is that chances were created.

Raiders Sign Torres

Irish Raiders made their first summer signing in 26 year old Hugo Torres. The striker scored in his debut in a 3-1 win against DUAO.

"I brought in this lad to try strengthen the forward line and hopefully he will give us that bit more in the upcoming season. I am hoping to add a defender to the squad before the season kicks off but am struggling in the bidding for the right player."

"Can I just take this opportunity to congratulate England on an absolutely disastrous world cup."

Problems Within

Warren Bonham's partner has left him and the player is absolutely emotionally destroyed. He is so low that as a result, his form inevitably dips to an all time low.

A clubs spokeswoman was quick to squash rumours that John Terry was reportedly involved.

No Injury News But need the money

This week there was no injury news at Egloshayle Road and preparations for the new season are doing well. After a rather lengthy pre-season break the lads are up for the new season in what looks like it could be a 20-strong League.

Will DUAO retain the title?
Will Machine pick up a 3rd?
Like Spain in the world cup, will there be a new name on the trophy?
Will I still have a bigger member than RD?
And will Hargreaves have the biggest mouth in the league?

I know the answer to two of those.

Money please - and think of a manager you lot !!!

Genuine BBC response to the Great MM

The following is a genuine response i recieved from the BBC after complaining about the childlike comments and gay whining tone of that scrawney, fuck faced cunt Mark Lawrenson during World Cup 2010. I'm strongly thinking of pulling out of taking over from Jonathon Ross because of this limp dicked pussy response.

Dear Mr Mitchell

Thanks for your contact regarding the 'World Cup 2010'.

I understand that you feel that Mark Lawrenson is a poor choice of commentator for this event.

The range of tastes and opinions held by our audience is so diverse that it's inevitable some viewers and listeners will dislike or disapprove of certain commentators. It's a very rare TV or radio personality who meets with everyone's approval, and it's clear that opinions on individual commentators can vary considerably.

Programme contributors are appointed on the basis of their experience and talent, but judgements are often subjective and we'd never expect everyone to agree with every choice we make.

We don't engage any commentator unless we believe they're competent and can meet the specific demands required of them.

yesterday.

Park boss Mitchell is refusing to get carried away after hsi side knocked seven past Wellington Wanderers

"We must not get carried away, we have played 3 friendlies and won them, but it means nothing if you cant do it in the season. We had our poorest season last season but I am determined to put things right." said Mitchell.

"We tried something different yesterday and were nearly full-strength, I dont knwo what side EggMofu put out so we must not look too much into this. I was, however, pleased with young Jonny May. We brought him in from the youth set-up on Wednesday and threw him straight into the team. He played well and scored twice on his debut which, to me, is more pleasing than the 7-0 victory." he concluded

'Keeper Not The Last Transfer

Park boss Mitchell welcomed new keeper Paul Chapman to the club and exclaimed we need one more player.

"Our reserve keeper has not developed as we would have liked so I have had to buy in a talented keeper in Paul Chapman. I also need another high quality defender but wont have funds just yet. We do, however have 5 great forwards, I will narrow this down to 4 for the season and hope to use that money to assist in buying a defender." said Mitchell.

Just who will go is anyones guess but it is rumoured that 31 year old Paul Rowe may face the axe despite his hat-trick 2 days ago.

Machine's Thailand Tour Cock-Up

Neill Whyte goes out partying with a few other players, and after several beers ends up kissing a hot girl. He discovers during the course of the encounter that it is in fact a man. The other players cannot help telling the rest of the team, and he is a laughingstock at training the next day. Even though he persuades them to keep it out of the press, he is humiliated and his form drops as a result.

New start

The all whites open up with a difficult friendly against Red Machine FC. With no midfield strength to talk of the all whites are going to have to be creative to ensure they don't get a thumping. The midfield will be a key area to focus on in the all whites first season in the league supreme division 1.

Egg Shell Shit

Today we stretched our legs, well not the first team, but some of the hopeful seasons starters, against the FIRST TEAM, no excuses Egg Shell Shit. The final result was an easy victory for the mighty Temple Town, 4 v 1, with TT letting in a late goal from Egg Shell.
Now we will put the first team out against real opposition Red Machine.

No excuses for Egg Shell, they were his first team, looks like you'll have a tough season this year, Ginger whinger!

Egg shell shit

THE TT manager fell asleep towards the end of the game and could have sworn he saw Ginger Mitch's team score late on, but having woken up, after the game it was the TT's mascot, that he saw the dirty bastard Mitch scoring against.

When he spoke to the mascot afterwards, the mascot denied that Ginger had intertered with him as the mascot didn't feel a thing, but then Ginger is not known to have any size at all. The incident has been reported to the RSPCA. Do remember though Ginger was previously caught on the beach with a donkey. So it doesn't surprise me that the dirty little ginger is upto his old tricks.

The final score was 4 v 0, not 4 v 1. Mitch your team are shit!

Little Stiffy . . .

"I won a friendly, I won a friendly, I lost both games when it actually counted last season but that doesnt count, I actually won a friendly today and Ive got a stiffy, Ive got a stiffy can anyone see? Does anyone care?"

TT manager today sent a clear indication of his seasons hopes of avoiding relegation for TT and Blackpool by shouting from the rooftops his sides friendly win. Take a leaf Ian Hollowtwat and make the most of ANY success, however little, and however insignificant it is, cos no-one will remember or give a shit unless it actually counts. Third from bottom (like last season) wont see you safe next season Temple Twat.

Oh by the way - can we all be careful with Temple Town this season because if he loses he will go quiet and ask to resign complaining there are too many 'professional managers' (actual words) in this league like he did at the start of last season by email to the league admin (I still have the emails).

Baby.
What a sad, sad tosser.

Egg Shell Plum

Get your facts correct before writing such a load of old shit Ginger!

The resignation as you are aware was over something completely different.

Who was the one who sent an email on Thursday suggesting TT would be beaten this weekend? Who was the one who stupidly threatened to run around

Other News

Leicester Square, if Blackpool were promoted? So it means nothing now you are beaten, ok? Not the way the email sounded. Threats, threats and more bets broken.

Now who looks like the whinger!?

LOL - Keep digging Hargreaves!

"Would the league be better if 2 teams resigned" was a text I received from the big baby last week.

If you want to report facts then report facts, not bollocks saying I was full strength against your pile of pants - at least FIVE of that team wont start the season - if you want to lie and play dirty then youve picked the wrong man. Also, dont MAKE me print the entire email conversation we had last season and publically humiliate you, with you complaining when your team wasnt winning that the league is full of professionals !! Hehe :D

Its "only fun" when you email / text, but when someone retaliates, theyre being nasty. Grow some balls big boy!

Get a Room!

Its all getting a bit much listening to TT and Egloshayle this week and "Get a room" was the comment from Irish Raiders manager ALan. All this talk of big and small dicks and who sent who what email must be sexual frustration on both parts and I would encourage that they play another friendly and after the game they should both get a room in some run down hotel (in Blackpool of course) and get it on.

I on the other had am ready for the new season and feel that if I could get one more defender in before the kick off I would have a squad to challenge for my title back.

PS.....when you guys are finished let us know who does in fact have the bigger dick!

In Total Agreeance .

Lets save your childish bitching to emails and not include everyone else, lets keep it here for the FOOTBALL.

Looking forward to the new season and yes, my opening game, away at Temple Town !!! LOL

Welcome

McFletch put aside all the rhetoric and bravado to welcome the new managers and teams to the League

Supreme and wished all good luck for the forthcoming season. 'Welcome to you all and good luck, but you're all going to have to go a long long way in your first season to get a result at the Lane. We've spent far too long in the lower division and now it's our time to get back to where we belong. First up it's a nice away game against the Dons. Should be a doddle' said an unusually optimistic McFletch

Juan Mantilla signs for Raiders

Irish Raiders have completed their summer spending with the acquisition of Juan Mantilla. Juan has come in to strengthen the defence and at 22 can have a lengthy career at the club. The Cuban defender has taken the club to near financial crisis so things will be tight for the rest of the season.

Can the 2 summer signings for the Irish help them to claim back the title that was taken from them last season.....we will have to wait and see.

Rickard Goes for 6.7m

Egloshayle Park today completed the transfer of striker Kingsley Rickard for 6.7m and paved the way for a big money deal for a potential defender to Egloshayle Road.

"I would like to thank Kinger for his service to the club, but with some promising up and coming youngsters it was important to bring the young talent through and to fund a potential defender. I would like to get a good defender in before the start of the season but if I have to wait for the right man I will wait. We have our eye on one or two." said Mitchell.

His side will look to get back on track with a friendly against Hell Hounds later today after their first defeat against Temple Town on Sunday. Before that match Park had won their previous 5 friendlies, scoring 15 and conceding only 2.

"I think our recent results highlight what a great result Temple Town had on Sunday" concluded Mitchell.

EIEIEIO My cock is huge & still it grows

I was just offered 'Talent in the Youth team' I didn't get as far as looking at his skill level or form or even attributes. I simply saw that he was called 'Dudley Curran' so i told him to FUCK OFF !!!!!!!!!!!

At long last TT manage not to be beaten by Red Machine! This is some call for a celebration, everytime I play either DUAO and Red Machine they beat us. Fair enough, but team to team they seem very close, it's probably as I'm a shit manager.

Thank fuck! Now we face ginger in the first game of the season, with no new signings over the closed season, TT hope to build upon their moderate shit season last year.

Have four tickets for England v Hungary, any takers? If they are as shit as the world cup, doubt there will be.

Mr & Mrs Mitchell

Stunning entertainment?? Shame your team can't say that!!
Good luck to all in the new season.

All Whites

The mighty all whites are looking forward to the start of the season. The manager was heard saying that his midfield is a pile of shite that wouldn't grace a pub sunday league team so expect to see some changes in that department soon. Clearly there is a gap between the new and developed teams but a season or two should reduce the gap.

Poor Perry Men Ponder Pre-season Pain

A run of nine straight defeats in pre-season friendlies has had The Perry Men faithful calling for a change at the top. McFletch faced the hostile press in defiant mood, 'The pre-season hasn't gone as well as I would have liked but we've kept the players fitness levels up and given our fringe players some experience against top sides. It's also identified some areas of weakness in the team and there's a lot of those. We'll give everyone a chance but if results carry on like this there'll be some swift changes' The Perry Men go into an away game against the unknown Ak Dons. They're going to need to get results against these type of teams to have any chance of promotion.

"You'll Never Win Anything With Kids"

As Red Machine FC count down the days to kick-off to a much anticipated season seven in League Supreme. Questions were asked of manager Rob Couch to justify his signings in close season.

"What is there to justify?" was his snap reaction to the press.

"I have bought in four exciting youngsters with bags of potential for the future. I needed to freshen up my striking options, and I am lucky to have a board that has backed my judgement. The two strikers are 20 and 21 years of age respectively, a lot of eyebrows were raised when I released all time club record goal scorer, Justin Bolam at an age of only 33. I have to give these kids experience and they are not going to get that turning out for the cup run".

"My other two signings have been from the clubs youth set-up, we will follow their progress carefully, I am sure they will be asked to step in at some point, with this forthcoming season the longest to date".

Scouting mission over just returned to The Back Garden after a 2 week scouting mission in Cyprus. Bloody hot and glistening in sweat.... but that's enough of the girls on Nissi beach. Saw plenty of talent. Ayia Napa full of it. But nothing to improve my team.

Did I miss anything while away? I understand we have a large league this year so i thought i might suggest that maybe we should go to a 3-division format, else we could be playing till about December.....Hang on. Just been handed a note from my press officer..... Shit!! when did that happen??

AsI was saying, can't wait to start the new season. Loads of games to play. Will be a real test and I expect my boys to provide me with a great Christmas present of promotion.

League Admin

The palyers turned up today to find that 'the club has been hit by a mysterious virus, that has taken all the players except two youngsters down in form'!!!! 'Only twelve fit players report to the training ground'.

So League admin write 'Good luck to all managers and good luck for season SEVEN !!(That included TT but after today only ;-)' and xperteleven give us this!!!

What a start, hopefully it's not like lasagne like Perry Men will know all about!

Good luck to all including ginger!
