Premiership Round-Up

Week 5 and Park and Wazzy get off the mark leaving just Essex and Temple Town awaiting their first wins. Houdin ensures The Deck are still the only side with a 100% winning start in the league meanwhile DUAO continue to dominate

Two Games, Two Loses!

Red Machine FC slipped to third place in the LS Premiership, and four points off top spot after a 3-2 home defeat to DUAO.

"This time last week when I faced the press I was in optimistic mood, but after two defeats on the bounce, this week is a different story. We lost in the cup to long standing arch-rivals Egloshayle Park, but I soon reminded my players that the tie is only at the half time stage. It will be difficult to break down their defence. But we'll give it a good go, and welcome back influential midfielder Inacio Sanches from injury, he will have an important part to play in the game."

"It was an entertaining game between us and DUAO, with a host of chances being created by both sides. Having gone three down within 32 minutes, I was thinking the worst. Credit to my players when they clawed it back to 3-2, but we couldn't find the net to claim an equaliser. To make matters worst, we lost one of our linchpin defenders in Alistair Craven through injury. He has formed a formidable partnership with Neal Stamford and will be missed, but this will give a another player to show his worth."

DUAO Move 3 Points Clear

Clearly the Reds players weren't in as buoyant mood as their manager was in the press, as they slumped to an early 3-0 loss at the hands of mighty DUAO. With an injury to one of DUAO's 3 key defenders after only 28 minutes, young Mickey Webber was thrown into the fray and looked clearly out of his depth. The Reds pulled themselves together and took advantage of DUAO's weakness at the back but it was too little too late to salvage a point, leaving DUAO to return home with all 3.

Manager Wookie had these words: "As Reds Manager Councie pointed out last week we have had a relatively easy start to the season so far. We've played most our games at home, and away we have yet to be challenged! However this is all about to change as we go into a 4 match league encounter with the Premiership's best. The Irish are looking determined to have their name on the title this season and the Tui Girls are always a tough act to get anything from. Add to this that I'm breaking one of my golden rules by trying to bring in a young new talent half way through the season... and this league is far from decided."

Perry Men Outplayed by Park

A bruising encounter at the ground where Egloshayle Park FC play left McFletch counting the injuries to his players and left the Perry Men still looking for that elusive away win. Dave Mackay who couldn't be accused of hiding in this game was ever so kind and spoke after the disappointing result, 'We felt we got the tactics right but we were lacking a cutting edge up front, maybe we should have gone 4-4-2 but it's easy to say that in hindsight. We won't dwell on the result for too long - we have an important cup game coming up and, with the current injuries, it's a chance for some players to show their worth'

Meanwhile the mighty Spurs agreed to rearrange their home game against the Scum to allow them to try and win their first trophy in many a year. Come on you Blues!

Two wins in a week have seen spirits lifted at Irish Raiders this week. After loosing 2-1 at home to The Rising Dick in the first round of the cup things were looking bad for the Irish outfit. But a win in the league and then a fantastic 4-1 away win in the cup has seen the confidence back in the squad.

"We need as much confidence as we can get at the moment as we have had a stuttery start this season. All eyes will be on our game against DUAO this week as everymanager will be hoping we can

Not all white on the night

The Perry Men can consider themselves to be extremely fortunate to be in the next round of the cup as the All Whites saw chance after chance hit the woodwork. McFletch spoke to someone after the game, 'We weathered the storm in the first half and were lucky to hold on for extra time. When one of their players went off and we failed to capitalise before our own defender got sent off, I thought that's it - it's not going to be our day. Luckily, Micah Spink stepped up again with another great cross met by young Rio Daltery which proved decisive.' Next up the Perry Men face Egloshayle Park FC. McFletch went on to say, 'We have only just lost to them so we'll be looking to put that right in the Cup - it'll be a tough tie but we're already looking forward to it'

I must go away again...

This was the comment from the Wazzy boss after returning from a week away celebrating his birthday by sharing a manager's meal at the Emirates Stadium,

"I went away on a scouting mission, came back to find my boys had not only drawn one game and won another but also scored 6 goals in the process. I was unable to attend either game as I was exchanging bottles of wine with a certain successful french manager. the messages must have been passed on telepathically" he jested.

Always the funny man.

Let's hope his team don't suffer now that he has returned to the helm!!

Win & a loss, now our Midfields tossed!

Rising Deck Player/Manager/Clam Cuffer Ian 'Magic' Mitch gave us a quickie (ughhh) review of his sides last two matches as he's got a column (a fucking huge one that i'll always refer to) to write.

Most importantly our 100% winning start to the campaign continued with a 2-0 home win over Darren Rice's Super Blues (and whose Ipswich side needed to score just one goal at the weekend to win me £110 on the Goals Galore at the bookies but fucking let me down!)

Getting back in the Prem is our No.1 priority so i was pleased with my teams overall performance helped with Robert Houdin's brace that brings his tally to 7 for the season.

The 2nd leg of the cup on Sunday was a double blow (MMmmm nice!) for us as not only did The Irish Raiders blow us away with an incredible display but it left our midfield with 2 injuries that may unsettle, what was up until now, a regular midfield lineup.

Anyway that's over now and it may just help our promotion dreams to not have a weekend game as well.

I'm off now to put some superglue into a non-stick pan to see which one is lying!

MM ;)

Final Minute Thriller!

Mark Eggins spoke of his relief as Wellington managed to score in the last minute to get a draw against the Dark Destroyers. In what was an evenly fought contest Dark Destroyers took the lead early in the second half only for Wanderers to fight back in the 83rd minute.

The Destroyers then looked to have sealed all 3 points with a header by Fred West only for Wanderers Jeremie Gibson to score in the final few seconds to earn his team a well deserved draw.

Best Wishes For Our NZ Friends

All ok for DUAO

Crap news what has happened in NZ, I hope my fellow northerner is all good?
Temple Town

If your talking about me - all ok but shocking news. Know a few people down there and they ae pretty fragile. A lot of people unaccounted for.
All Whites

I'm still alive so unfortunately the league title is not up for grabs this season! - I'm on the north island in Palmerston North.... nothing ever happens in Palmerston North.
But Christchurch is in bits. Looks like it may be the worst natural disaster to ever hit NZ.

"Shout it daily shout it loud .It's fucking long and standing proud!"

Oh yes, Magic 'No VIP needed' Mitch had a little panic as it's Tuesday and no press release yet released from me that's so needed to release Econ from the Xpert11 kitty.

Also I may have been close to being in a Name & Shame press release from Mr Eglos that may have resulted in a little 'winkie water' escaping from my Gargantuan Love Pump.

The great 'No VIP needed' start to the season continued to the fourth win on the bounce that was hastily chased down a dark back alley and caught and buggedgered with the fifth win on Sunday with a proud 1st Leg win away to the respected Premier Division 'Irish Raiders'

On thursday we had to show some Spunk after a scare going one nil down in the 2nd half to Wozboz's FC Wazzy. We continued our normal style of play to come out 4-1 winners but had to use some Magic Tactics (that will be revealed in the Xpert11 Mag in the coming weeks, so reserve your copy at your local Newsagents now or, better still, take out a season's subscription saving 27 Econ and entitling you to a free gift of a small 'door sized' fold out poster of my Cock for your nearest and dearest!)

Next up this Thursday are the Super Blues and 'Muller' Rice's Tractor Boys travelling the girth of the country from East to West with the 2nd League of the Cup on Sunday.
Action packed week, much to organise so i'll be off.

By the way this Saturday Morning in The Orpheum Car Park we will be having a Jumble Sale of Old Kit but instead of accepting money as payment I'm going to gropr womens breasts!
Tit for Tat!

Right a column (ugggh) to write now for the Mag, no rest for the BIG COCKED!

Yes even i fuck up (& down & left/right)

In the last press release i said 2nd League of the cup instead of 2nd Leg. Sorry I couldn't see the Keyboard coz of my massive throbbing vein.

Spurs are Shite

Other News

Meanwhile the mighty Spurs move on from their impressive win at the San Siro and travel to Bloominghellisthisapremiershipclub Road for another 3 points.

Ha, ha,ha, ha!

Champions League you're having a laugh, Champions League you're having a laugh, Champions League you're having a laugh.

Simple Simon says blah blah blah

McFletcher popped in for a rare pre-match press release to respond to the puerile comments from simple simon, 'It was rather embarrassing for the mighty Spurs to lose to such a crap pile of shite as Blackpool, but it's a funny old season and there have been some freak results, this was just another one of those. As for the Champions league - yes, so far, us Spurs fans are indeed having a laugh. We congratulate Blackpool on their climb to the dizzy heights of 12th place - we all want them to stay up so we can listen to that funny litte man after their games'

Fair dinkum Mr H

Yep your tangerine trojans are the only team to have graced the City Ground and left victorious in almsot one and a half years...mind you Preston gave it a fair go!!!Gut feeling is that things are slipping away from Forest at the moment - maybe end March/April is the time to win a few on the bounce?

Similarly, I think it's gonna be a long season for DBTT after the flattering start. Not sure where the next win is going to come from.

Cup v Crap

Into the next round of the cup but shite in the League again all be it to the form team in Dvision 1. The league already looks split in two as expected at the start of the season. The squad is gaining experience but this is a long hard season yet again.

The Jap's Eye

(The World Through Magic Mitch's Eyes)

Week 4: Home to FC Wazzy

The home tie against Mr. Paul Warren's F.C.Wazzy threw up some easy opportunities for me to get up to frontbottybattery. Having seen his side to get off to a poor start to the season Wozboz jetted off to his beloved Sunny Spain to spy on some new talent. However this leering at the naked buxom beauties from his terraza in Cartagena was doing his quest no good so he headed for the training grounds of Murcia whereupon he managed to convince young striker Juan King to a new challenge in 'The Back Garden, Cornwall'

With wind of this raid on Spain hitting my desk at the Orpheum I immediately pulled up my tight burgundy pants and reached for the phone to contact the club's Spanish relations representative Jenny Taylia to work her 'Magic' whilst intercepting the Wazz Boss upon his attempted departure from Murcia Airport on the eve of our League encounter. As Mr. Warren lay back in the departure lounge full from a hearty afternoon partaking in consuming large amounts of Tapas and San Miguel young Jenny went to work.

She took advantage of his Chorizo that was poking its little head out from the trouser department. This attention to his wanton member in conjunction with the tiring heat led to Paul drifting off into a very heavy sleep. As to plan this made him miss his flight home and therefore his manager less side were already at a disadvantage for our encounter.

The final part of the plan was to fool Wazzy star midfielder Petrut Florea into thinking he was back in his native Sahara instead of gracing the lush Orpheum pitch.

Our own David Devant managed to deftly take the yellow card from the pocket of referee 'Al Reddy' with stunning Sleight of Hand and adhere the Sandy coloured square on the bridge of Petrut's nose with the aid of some Magicians Wax. For a full 34 minutes Petrut (with the veiny flute) wandered around lost as if he were searching for an Oasis in his desert homeland.

It was not until the 35th minute when Arnold Muhren was booked that the referee realised the card was missing and spent until half time trying to remove it from Petrut's hooter.

The two incidents therefore combined to give us such an advantage that we went on to win the match comfortably 4-1 and sustain our 100% winning record and add to F.C.Wazzy's misery.
