The Deck Are Back

Deck continue their winning streak as DUAO and Machine also win. Favourites Wellington and Temple also start with a win.

Premiership Round-Up

Week One in a brand new season always brings fresh new hope for the season. Their are new faces in each division but some things never change. Teams hoping to overthrow DUAO's dominance will not be encouraged by their opening 4-0 win over new boys All Whites. The Deck continued where they left off beating Mangatainoka 3-1. In Division One both Temple Town and Wellington started off with wins.

Colossal Cocks Campaign Kicks Off!

He's back, he's back, the man with the cack! (that's Xpert 11 spiel for the biggest cock) Oh yes 'Magic Mitch' is still in charge of those conjurors from the sunny south west corner of England. The Rising Deck are back to have another stab in The Premiership and this is what Magic had to say after his side's opening day fixture.

"We have no pre conceptions about the task ahead of us this season. After last season's 100% winning campaign we won't get carried away as this division is a completely different kettle of minky. To get three points against last seasons runners up is the opening day wish come true for us. I think Jared's Manga have the best shirts in the League with the frothy headed ice cold beer on display but although I say having great head is brilliant we weren't going to lie down and be gobble up like we were for large periods of our last Premier League campaign.

A couple of old stalwarts have moved on and with the injection of some youth and some fringe players having had some much needed experience in League 1 I feel we are much bettered prepared for a good showing of ourselves this time around.

Next up is what must be the toughest game of anyones season, away to DUAO who not only have won the last three titles but won 4-0 on opening day. Our 15 game League winning streak may be breaking records but if anyone is going to end it.... who knows???

McFletch was more than happy with a point from a tough away game, 'We've strengthened in the right area and we are all delighted with our new signing's man of the match award. We kept the Raiders locked out all game and we're only disappointed we didn't put one of our own chances away'. Next up for

The Perry Men, another toughie against MinkiTinkas. Looking forward to the mag League Admin

Park Boss 1st To Congratulate

Egloshayle Park boss Mitchell was first to congratulate long-standing rival boss Couchie on his sides 1-0 opening win at Egloshayle Road.

"It was devestating to lose Diddy Hamilton so early in the match and then a key defender later in the match and then go down to an 87th minute goal. But, fair play to Couchie, they came and won so I will now wish him all the best until the last game of the season." said Mitchell.

"Its gutting to lose the opener, but its one game and we are notoriously slow starters. We just need to get our players back and fit as soon as possible. Sometimes you have to hold your hands up to a better team. I feel there will be many twists and turns this season" said a surprisingly upbeat Mitchell.

“Hands Up - Well Done”

As the final whistle sounded at Egloshayle Road, the comment from defeated manager Mitchell to his victorious opposite number was “hands up - well done”.

Couchy was in expectant jubilent mood in the press conference.

“It was always going to be a closely courted match and preparation was the key. I raised a few eyebrows with my formation and team selection, but my gameplan was to win the battle in midfield, and the result proved I got this spot-on. I was extremely happy that they couldn’t even manage a single shot on our goal”.

“Leaving out experienced and influential midfielder Inacio Sanches was always going to be a gamble, but he got his opportunity because of a unfortunate injury to Phillip Manger and when called on, showed what a talented footballer he his. It definitely leaves me with a selection headache for next weeks game”.

Asked whether his gameplan was to ‘mame’ Egloshayle Park star midfield Diddy Hamilton.

“Definitely not! You should take a closer look at the booking Mike Yelland got in the 11th minute for elbowing - is the ref colour blind? Tell me why that wasn’t a straight red, did he pull out the wrong colour card?”

Acacio Coutinho celebrates his sides 87th minute winner against Park.

Loss

The All Whites were thrashed by a Duao team that outplayed us. Despite correctly guessing their formation and attacking method and having two quick defenders to counteract the threat 4 0 was the final score. We'll have to pick ourselves up for the challenge of Egloshayle

DUAO Continue Where They Left Off

All Whites were given a baptism of fire at the new Wookie Hole (relocated from Palmerston North to Wellington during the off season) in their opening LS Premiership game. The All Whites cautious back 4 managed to contain DUAO’s lethal striking partnership until the 27th minute and then the flood gates opened. With DUAO’s midfield dominance and being spurred on by their home supporters, a master class in football skills ensued. DUAO wrapped the game up with their 4th goal and a superb long range effort by Wayne Manger on 60 minutes. 4-0 the final score. Wookie was on hand for the following comments “It’s great to get off to a winning start. The lads were playing some sublime football out there and at this stage it’s difficult to find faults. That said, I’m expecting this season to be at least as challenging as the last”

2 Goals each from Humberto São and Ruben Benavent got Wellington off to a perfect start, although Mark Eggins has urged his team to keep focused as his team look to mount a title challenge. After many seasons developing the squad, finally we have a squad capable of maintaining a challenge, but only time will tell if we can stay consistent.

Leighton Meester

Birthday: April 9, 1986

Hometown: Marco Island, Florida

How You Know Her: Leighton's early life resembled a Texas tornado of sorts, having been born in Fort Worth, then moving to Florida only to wind up settling in New York at the age of 11. After finagling her way into small TV spots, Meester landed the role—socialite Blair Waldorf on Gossip Girl—that put her on everyone's radar, including ours: She was No. 48 on our 2008 Hot 100 and No. 12 on our 2009 list. She'll be helping Tina Fey and Steve Carell bring the funny this weekend with a small part in Date Night.

She Leaves Nothing to the Imagination:

"In this world, everyone wants to know everything about you, and I think that's funny. I can't be annoyed. People speculate a lot about me, saying there's something else that's really the truth...." — Cosmopolitan
